Wilson Says Dems Trying to Shift Costs to County

Ulster County Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson charged today the New York City Democrats are again attempting to ram a bill through the State Legislature to shift the cost of snow plowing and sanding on roads around city-owned property in upstate areas directly on the backs of the local taxpayers. Assemblyman Wilson said a bill has been introduced by the Democratic-controlled Assembly Rules Committee to require County Boards of Supervisors and Town Highway Superintendents to remove snow and apply sand on all roads and bridges built or maintained by the City of New York on their reservoir properties in various upstate areas, such as the Ashokan and Rondout Reservoirs in Ulster County.

Assemblyman Wilson pointed out that when New York City entered the watershed counties such as Ulster and acquired reservoir land, the city had agreed that they would pay for the cost of sanding and snow removal on all roads running through the reservoir property. This agreement was spelled out in the Water Supply Act of 1905, but recently New York City has attempted to have the law amended so that these costs could be shifted to the counties and towns involved. Just last year such a bill was actually passed by the Democrat-controlled Legislature, but it was vetoed by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

The Ulster County Assemblyman said the Democrats are again attempting the same sort of move this year, and he expressed the hope that they would not be aided in their efforts by the Republican Administration of Mayor John V. Lindsay. Wilson (Continued on Page 27, Col. 8)

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Democrats pressed ahead today with plans to obtain the Legislature's approval of the court-ordered redistricting plan, despite Republican protests that the action would be meaningless.

The new dispute flared Thursday when Earl W. Brydges, the Senate's Republican majority leader, said flatly that placing the Legislature's stamp on the court plan was "entirely unnecessary."

Says Senate Won't Act
Earlier, the Legislature's top Democrat, Assembly Speaker Anthony Travia, had introduced the court plan in the form of a bill in the Assembly.

Travia held that turning the court edict into a law would give it more strength. But Brydges said legislative action on the plan would be "a transparent piece of face saving." He indicated that the Republican-led Senate would not act even if the measure were passed by the Democratic-dominated Assembly.

In another developing dispute, a Democratic assemblyman challenged Travia on provisions in the divorce-law bill drafted by Travia and Brydges.

Percy Sutton, leader of a Negro bloc in the Assembly, is a sponsor of an earlier measure aimed at broadening the divorce statute. He declared Thursday he "simply could not support the leaders' bill" because it dropped a proposal in his bill that would enable a couple to obtain a divorce after living apart voluntarily for two years. When the Travia-Brydges agreement was announced Wednesday, Sutton said he would try to amend the bill but would vote for it reluctantly, if his attempts to change it failed.

Would Pose Floor Fight
Sutton asserted Thursday that he would attempt to line up support for a vigorous floor fight against the Travia-Brydges measure.

When the Court of Appeals issued its reapportionment plan earlier this week, the tribunal said it would be used "in the November 1966 election and thereafter until validly superseded."

Although the state's highest court clearly indicated that legislative approval was not needed, the Democrats appeared eager to provide the plan with as much legal protection as possible.

Observers agreed that the plan gave Democrats a wide edge in the Assembly elections and gave the Republicans a less substantial margin in the Senate.

Brydges said, however, that he did not intend to challenge (Continued on Page 6, Col. 3)

Uptown Men Will Name 51 Contest Winners Saturday

A total of 51 winners will be named Saturday in the first of three selections for awards valued at over $1,050 in the "Spring Shower of Prizes" sponsored by the Kingston Uptown Business Men's Association.

Additional winners will be named on the two following Saturdays, April 2 and 9. Topping this week's list of awards will be the grand prize of $100 in certificates spendable like cash with any member business in the Uptown Business Men's Association. They will be issued in small denominations, so that the winner may use them in one or in as many Uptown stores as he or she wishes.

Other prizes to be awarded will be in the form of merchandise certificates issued by individual member businesses and redeemable at the store or business. (Continued on Page 6, Col. 1)

Dye Backs Stand on Jail Plan Cites High Cost Of Prisoner Shift

The position of the Sheriff's Committee of Ulster County Board of Supervisors on a recommendation to "farm out" local prisoners to Albany jail was defended in a statement today by Town of Kingston Supervisor Douglas Dye (R), committee chairman.

"In the past," he said, "irresponsible broadcasts have often swayed the public into accepting unfounded statements as fact. This most recent attack on the 'Republican Party Lords' concerning their position on Sheriff Martin's recommendation to the Board of Supervisors, is a striking example."

Explains Fee
"The 'nominal fee' for incarceration of prisoners from Ulster County in the Albany County Penitentiary is $6.50 per day. This cost does not take into consideration the following points contained in the report from the Sheriff's Committee dated February 8, to the Board of Supervisors:

1. A reduction in the number of prisoners at the county jail would only result in decreased meal costs which is only a fraction of the above $6.50.

2. Far more significant would be the additional costs incurred through transportation of the prisoners to and from Albany plus the medical costs while at the Albany County Penitentiary. For example, a vehicle recommended by the State Department of Correction for transportation of prisoners would cost more than $9,000 plus repairs and operational expenses. Thus, even a casual review of the facts should be sufficient to show that adoption of this proposal would be costly to the taxpayer of Ulster County.

On February 3, the Sheriff's Committee toured the Ulster County Jail. At that time Sheriff Martin suggested that the present identification room in the basement could be converted to a juvenile detention area. Republican and Democrat members agreed that this suggestion might be advantageous. No firm plans for implementation have yet been received by this committee.

Third Floor Suggested
Recommendations concerning the use of the third floor of the jail have been considered several times before. In 1964, Senior Inspector Woodward, of the Department of Correction advised against use of this area.

Allies Claim 1,236 Reds In Coastal Plains Fight

Say Full Regiment Smashed; Several Battalions Mauled

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Five thousand U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops brought the fighting phase of Operation Texas to an end Thursday night and claimed 1,236 Communists killed or wounded in five days of battle in the central coastal plains.

Senior American and Vietnamese officers said the campaign in Quang Ngai Province, 330 miles north of Saigon, smashed an entire Viet Cong regiment, battered several more battalions and cleaned out five villages in an area long dominated by the Communists.

Allied Losses Light
Allied losses were described as light, although some small assault units took heavy punishment during helicopter landings.

As the Leathernecks used 6,000 pounds of dynamite to blow up abandoned Communist fortifications today, other Marines began a new "Operation Kings" to protect the rice harvest farther north near Da Nang.

Two Viet Cong companies opened up on the Marines with mortar shells, inflicting some casualties, but officers said the Americans killed six Viet Cong and captured two weapons. Otherwise ground action was mostly static. But U.S. Air Force and Navy fighter-bombers flew 42 strike missions against North Viet Nam Thursday, concentrating again on communications facilities to hamper the flow of men and supplies to the Viet Cong.

Report 124 Cong Dead
As major fighting subsided on the central coast, the U.S. 25th Infantry Division closed out a month-long campaign in the rain forests 35 miles north of the highland capital of Ban Me Thuot. The infantrymen killed 124 Communists in Operation Garfield, a spokesman said.

The Viet Cong gave another demonstration of their ability to stage hit-and-run raids within earshot of downtown Saigon by attacking a hamlet less than two miles from Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Airport. Flare planes lit the skies as government artillery left off the attackers. The guerrillas struck with grenades and small arms. There was no report of casualties on either side.

The Marines and the Vietnamese 2nd army division began Operation Texas last Sunday after the Viet Cong overran the area at the time.

A big Army Chinook CH47 helicopter carrying a 105-howitzer and ammunition was shot down by ground fire 10 miles northwest of An Khe while supporting a ground operation by 1st Cavalry, Airborne, Division troops. The spokesman said there were (Continued on Page 27, Col. 4)

Erhard Asks Ban on Arms Spread, Reduction Pact

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Ludwig Erhard called today for a ban on the spread of nuclear weapons and an agreement to reduce the number of those in existence.

Erhard, in a policy statement to the lower house of the West German Parliament suggested that all nations which do not have nuclear arms renounce their use and also that of germ and chemical weapons as West Germany did in 1955.

The federal government of West Germany, he said, "begins with the idea that the old system of national states on our continent can no longer cope with the great political, intellectual and economic tasks of the future. These tasks can only be solved together."

Erhard proposed that his government and those of the East (Continued on Page 27, Col. 4)

Key-Carrying Crooks Elsewhere

Upstate City Linked To Looting of Meters

NEW YORK (AP)—The Queens district attorney says authorities have uncovered evidence that parking meters in at least 10 cities throughout the nation have been systematically looted by key-carrying crooks.

Dist. Atty. Nat Hentel made the disclosure Thursday in reporting that two men were arrested in upstate New York in a situation "very similar" to the reported organized looting of many of this city's 55,000 parking meters by using keys.

Location Withheld
Hentel declined to name the upstate city, saying only that it was "fair sized." But he said a detective has been sent there to see if the case there is connected to the one here.

The police chief of the upstate city, Hentel said, uncovered evidence "to show specifically that these men had been operating in nine other cities throughout the country, most of them large cities, some in the Midwest and at least one in the South."

An aide to Hentel said the cities could not be named because "it would be premature, it might harm the investigation."

In the upstate case, Hentel said, "when the two men were apprehended... they had keys, key plates, sawed-off heads of meters and other equipment to indicate that they used methods to make molds that were almost the same as the methods in the operation here."

13-State Alarm Out
The meter looting came to light after the arrests last Monday of two men who police said were caught in the act.

The arrests led to a raid the following night on a home in Valley Stream, Long Island, just over the city line, where police said they found, among other things, three parking meter keys belonging to New York City, 75 duplicate keys, equipment for making still more, and three parking meters.

A 13-state alarm has been issued for the arrest of Charles Zambito, 20, whose home was raided, and Richard Diamond, 29, of Flushing, Queens, both described by police as suspected "kingpins" in the meter looting operation.

Police said Zambito apparently ran a meter-looting "school" and that one of the men arrested Monday while allegedly rifling Queens parking meters was a "pupil" who raked in $9,000 in one month.

Officials are trying to determine how the master parking meter key came to be in the Valley Stream home.

Key Returned Each Day
City Investigations Commissioner Arnold Fraiman said each of the city's 29 parking meter collectors is issued a key in the morning and returns it at the end of his work day.

The collectors work for the city Finance Department. Fraiman and Hentel met Thursday and said afterward that a Finance Department employee was arrested in Manhattan in December 1964 and later convicted and fined $250 for possession of a home-made parking meter key.

After that arrest, they said, there followed three others, all in Queens, for illegal possession of parking meter keys, but none (Continued on Page 6, Col. 3)

Ulster GOP Enrolls 26,277, Dems 11,844; 15,096 Blank

Democrats maintained a 3-to-2 numerical margin over Republicans in political party enrollments in New York State, according to figures announced today by Secretary of State John P. Lomenzo.

However, blank, void and missing ballots were prominent in predominantly Republican Ulster County.

Ulster showed an enrollment of 26,277 in the fall of 1965 for use in the 1966 primaries. This was opposed to 11,844 Democrat enrollment and 15,096 blank, void or missing ballots. Of the 53,825 enrollment blanks, the Conservative Party got 400, while the Liberal Party got 258.

On a state-wide basis, there was a total of 7,379,502 ballots, of which 3.7 million showed a preference for the Democratic Party, while 2.8 favored the GOP. Of the grand total, 85,125 registered on the Liberal ticket, while 30,936 preferred the Conservative enrollment.

Again, a high percentage was reflected in the "independent" vote with state records showing 629,771 ballots blank, void or missing.

Both major party enrollments are down slightly from last year, when the figures showed 894,751 more Democrats than Republicans. The totals in 1965 were 3,950,829 enrolled Democrats and 3,056,078 enrolled Republicans.

The Liberal Party also showed a slight drop in enrollments this year—85,125 compared to 87,828 a year ago.

Only the Conservative Party, with 30,936 members, has a higher enrollment than in 1965. Last year, 21,590 persons enrolled as Conservatives.

Only voters who are enrolled in a recognized political party are eligible to vote in the primary election this year.

Onteora Board of Education Plugs for Bond Issue

Members of the Onteora Board of Education are in the midst of an all out effort to acquaint the voters of the district with the need for more high school space. All social, civic, and fraternal organizations in the district have been invited to present an informational program to members describing the need for more high school space. As a result, 43 meetings have been scheduled to date in public buildings, fire halls, church halls and private homes. At each meeting the school district was represented by one or more Board members, a school district administrator and a teacher. A prepared slide and tape program was the focal point of the meetings and was followed by a question and answer period. As many as four meetings have been held in a single night in this major effort to bring the building problems of the district directly to the citizens who will be asked to finance the $1,910,800 building program at a referendum on March 30. The proposal will raise the capacity of the high school to provide for an increase of 600 students by 1970.

Traditionally, district voters have supported a good educational program and have demonstrated pride in its accomplishments. The high school is one of the few in the Mid-Hudson area to carry accreditation by the Middle States Accrediting Agency.

The building proposal is the result of many hours of effort by a Citizens Committee, the Board of Education, school administrators and the high school faculty. A report by the 21 member Citizens Committee recommended an addition to the high school to care for an increase of 600 students. The Board converted these recommendations into the plans which voters will be asked to approve on March 30.

Sullivan Urging Affirmative Vote

Dr. George R. Sullivan, Superintendent of Onteora Central Schools, has submitted an article on what he considers parental educational responsibility. The article was written in connection with the upcoming March 30 bond issue vote. It follows:

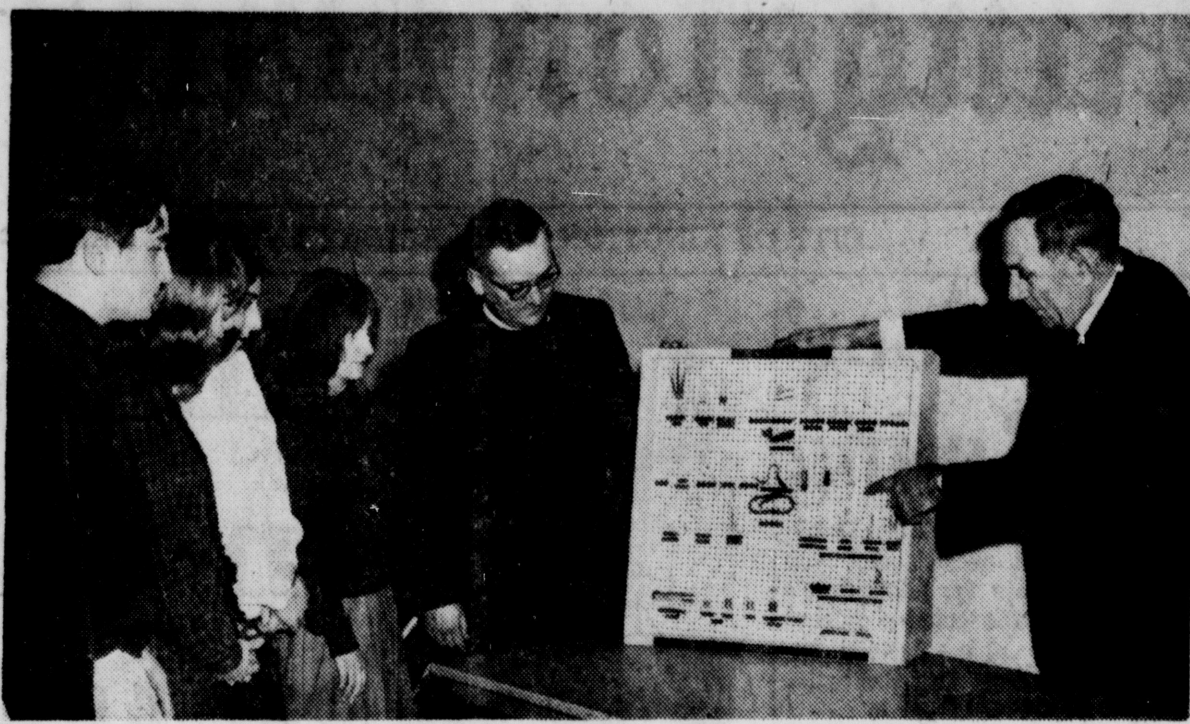

A wise educator, in whose shadow I walked, once said to me, "In this modern world it is almost impossible to leave a material heritage for our children. Today, the greatest legacy a parent can leave with his child is a good basic education which will assist him to cope with the problems of the future." To provide this educational heritage through the public schools of our country is no simple task for it places a heavy responsibility on the shoulders of all parents.

Good education grows best where a good educational climate exists. This climate must be present in the home, the school, and the larger community. It does not emerge automatically but must be created by parents acting collectively for the benefit of all children. It also has the tendency to wither away quickly if it is not tended constantly.

There are many ways to observe evidence of its presence or lack thereof. The most important evidence is its ability to attract and keep good teachers and educational leaders. It is also evident where libraries, school buildings and churches exist in sufficient quantity and quality to house educational activities. There are also many more subtle ways to determine its presence.

Soon the parents of children in the elementary schools will be asked once more to exercise educational responsibility by providing new high school facilities in our district. It is not enough to agree to the need. Hard work by many parents will be required before another important step in the future of our children can be realized.

I urge not only your affirmative vote on March 30, but your active participation in the campaign to get out the vote.

Describe Upstate Researcher as Cancer Detective

Words like azasteroids, perimidines, quinoxalines and aminoquinolines—all classes of organic compounds—are in the everyday vocabulary of a chemist professor at Clarkson College of Technology involved in the never-ending battle to conquer cancer.

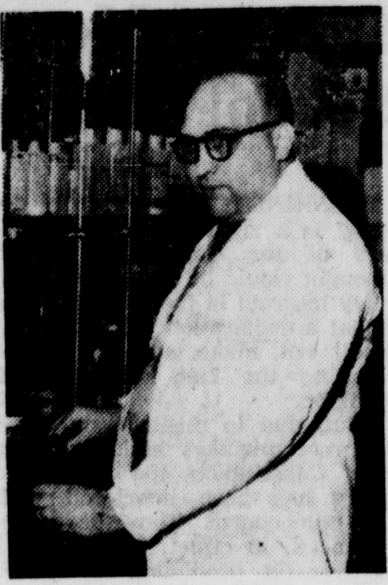

Frank D. Popp, associate professor of chemistry at the college in Potsdam, is a cancer "detective"; one of an army of researchers around the world working to overcome one of the world's major causes of premature death.

Pursuing Projects

In addition to his normal teaching schedule, Prof. Popp and eight students—all but one in graduate study—are currently pursuing various projects in synthetic organic chemistry. One of these under a $17,168 American Cancer Society grant involves the synthesis of azasteroids. Dr. Popp and his associates in August completed work under two other grants to Clarkson from the American Cancer Society that totaled $24,000 also in cancer-cure investigations.

And in one of the latter areas, the group is pressing continuing study under a three-year, $25,500 grant from the National Institutes of Health. The work probes for organic components in plant materials for cancer chemotherapy with the hope of uncovering anti-agents for subsequent testing by the Public Health Service's Cancer Chemotherapy National Service Center.

Another three-year $34,400 grant from the National Institute of Health supports work on the synthesis of diazepam, a class of organic compound with potential medicinal activity.

All Are Organic

According to 33-year-old Professor Popp, who holds a bachelor of science degree from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and a doctorate from the University of Kansas, "the majority of drugs are organic compounds, and in fact all organic compounds have the potential of exhibiting some type of physiological activity."

"This activity," he added, "can be either beneficial or harmful. Our research at Clarkson is centered on preparing new organic compounds, both because of an interest in the chemistry involved and the possibility of discovering new types of medicinal agents in the continuing attack on disease, including one or more of the many forms of cancer."

Old and New

The chimera of Greek mythology was a fire-breathing monster with the head of a lion, body of a goat and tail of a dragon. Today's chimera is a deepwater fish, about three feet long, which is rarely seen above 300 fathoms.

Bucephalus was the name of Alexander the Great's horse.

Dear Abby . . .

Sales Advice—Stay Behind the Counter

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My fiancé is a very attractive sales girl in a department store. Men customers very often ask her personal questions, such as, "What is your name?" "How old are you?" "Where do you live?" "Are you married?" She answers every question without hesitation. I tell her she should stick to selling, and not give the customers a run-down on her personal life, but she says she doesn't want to give the impression that she is stuck up. She carries on similar conversations with strangers she meets on the bus, or even on street corners. Do you think this is the proper way for a young lady to act? How should she answer personal questions from strangers?

DOWNTOWN CHICAGO

DEAR DOWNTOWN: A young lady should ignore personal questions put to her by a stranger. Your fiancé could use an orientation course in the ways of the big city, and one in judo on the side.

DEAR ABBY: Ten years ago I was courted by Mr. S. There was some talk of marriage, but I was a young widow with children and property and it seemed best at the time not to marry him. I never married. Mr. S. is ill now and unable to live alone or pay the cost of a nursing home so I have taken him into my home and am caring for him. We are not living in sin, Abby, but there has been much criticism from my friends and relatives. I have no status as a nurse. The question is how shall I introduce him? Should I say, "This is Mr. S., my friend and patient?" Or, "This is Mr. S., my boarder?" His living in my home seems to require some explanation.

MRS. D.

DEAR MRS. D.: If he courted you, there must have been a mutual romantic interest at one time. If there is absolutely none now, introduce him as "Mr. S., my friend." If perchance the romantic interest should be revived, I suggest you marry the man and introduce him as your husband.

DEAR ABBY: I am married, the mother of three, and my problem is my husband. I left him and filed for divorce only to call it off at the last minute because he cried and begged and promised he would be a good husband. So I went back to live with him again. I have no parents and no one to get advice from. Since I've been back he has been worse than ever. One minute he is fine and the next minute he is calling me every dirty thing he can think of. He goes into a rage, throws things, and ends up beating me. The only time he is half-civilized is when he wants marital relations. What am I to do? I am afraid of him. I haven't worked in years and couldn't support myself and the children. We have lost all our friends because of his vile temper and filthy accusations. If I leave him again I am afraid my life will be in danger. Is he sick?

DEAR ABBY: Do you think it is all right to go to mixed parties?

DEAR WINNIE: It all depends on what they're mixing.

Woman Is Taking To Air to Bare Fidel Spy Line

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The silver voice of a comely exile invades Cuba five nights weekly seeking to unmask Fidel Castro's vast internal spy network. She feels certain she plays a vital role in what she described as mushrooming discontent within Castro's armed forces.

The broadcasts by brown-haired Pepita Riera, purport to tell people inside Cuba who is spying on them.

"I am on Fidel's most wanted and most hated list," said Miss Riera, secure in her secret den in this exile haven. "I don't like him either."

In her hideaway, Miss Riera tapes broadcasts such as: "Attention Cuba, attention Cuba, beware of Juan Doe, he is a chivato (informer)." She then identifies the neighborhood where he operates.

She broadcasts over station WMIE, Miami, which has many Spanish language programs, and over Radio Americas, a Spanish-language station. Both are described as commercial stations.

In her 15-minute broadcasts, which refugees arriving by airlift say have become one of the most popular radio programs in Cuba, Miss Riera also warns members of the armed forces of informers in their ranks. She urges soldiers to rebel.

"There is very much anti-Communist infiltration within Fidel's armed forces," the exile said, citing recent arrests of officers. "But they are afraid because they don't know whether the person next to them is an informer. I try to make things easier for them."

BOYS' CLUB WEEK

March 27 through April 2 is National Boys' Club Week, which will be observed by the Kingston Boys' Club on Greenkill Avenue along with some 680 other Boys' Clubs throughout the country.

Today, these clubs are helping 700,000 youngsters grow up. Times may change, but a boy always will be a boy. He always will need guidance and direction. He always will need that extra something above and beyond fun and games. He always will need a pal.

The Boys' Clubs have no magic formula in channeling the unbounded energies and ingenuity of our young people. They just make possible the constructive investment by boys of their free time in organized and supervised activities and in the variety of crafts, arts, hobbies, sports and basic vocational training. The local director with the aid of volunteer workers find little difficulty in firing the imagination of boys in supervised recreation and in meaningful hobbies.

Boys' Clubs have been getting through to boys for many years. They help the youngsters grow up by making the process a trifle more orderly, a little easier, a lot more interesting, offering members, along with recreational opportunities, the essential foundations for productive, responsible adulthood.

The Boys' Clubs which are doing a remarkable job in furnishing safety-valve outlets for the excess steam of boys, deserves wider interest and support of the public.

Next week is a good time to become acquainted with the Kingston Boys' Club.

NO ADDED RADIATION

The other day there was news that the Soviet Union had touched off an underground nuclear blast. It is not known just what the Russians are up to—any more, it should be added, than the public knows just what our government is up to when it makes a test blast from time to time. Presumably, in both cases, tests of nuclear energy for both military and peaceful uses are afoot.

The point of dwelling on this is that, excluding a sense of apprehension felt whenever the thought of even more powerful nuclear weapons comes to mind, no one worries much about nuclear test blasts these days. This is not the fruit of mere complacency; it springs from the fact that since atmospheric tests have been banned by treaty a major cause of worldwide concern has been eased.

The residual effects of atmospheric tests made before the ban are still with us to some extent. But except for the relatively small blasts set off by the French and Communist Chinese governments, no new radiation poisoning has been added to the air we breathe. It is gratifying evidence that even mutually hostile great powers can agree on vital matters when their interests are served by agreement. And when they do agree, as in the case of the nuclear test ban, all the world benefits.

A POUND OF EXAMPLE

As a general thing, a pound of example does more than a ton of advice to hearten those stricken by some devastating malady. A fine illustration of this is the case of Patricia Neal. Her progress on the hard road back from the effects of three massive strokes has inspired and encouraged like sufferers wherever the story is known. Because she is a famed movie actress, the story is widely known indeed.

It was well over a year ago that Miss Neal, then pregnant, was rendered blind, paralyzed and speechless by the strokes. Since then, at her home in a village near London, she has made an astonishing recovery. She gave birth to a healthy child. Through courage and agonizing persistence, always with the help of her understanding and equally determined husband Rold Dahl, she has come close to full recovery.

She has learned to talk again, to write again, to walk without leg irons. She no longer must wear an eye patch. She shops in the village, cooks most of the family meals. The other day she visited a film

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

REAPPORTIONMENT FAVORS THE SUBURBS

Eugene Nickerson, the Executive of Nassau County on Long Island, threw his hat into the ring some time ago as a candidate for the 1966 Democratic nomination for governor of New York State. He was not in the least coy about being the first Democrat to announce his intentions, for, while other potential candidates (New York City Council President Frank O'Connor, former New York City Mayor Robert Wagner, Equal Employment Commission Chairman Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., and upstate industrialist Howard Samuels) were still testing the wind, Mr. Nickerson proceeded to barnstorm the State with some really insulting attacks on Republican Governor Nelson Rockefeller.

Mr. Nickerson's qualifications as a Democratic vote-getter in traditionally Republican Nassau are formidable. But, quite apart from his personal popularity in his own bailiwick, he has something going for him that is a relatively new phenomenon in American politics. He is the voice of Suburbia in a period in which the suburbs are replacing the rural regions as the almost universal counter to urban politics. As a symbol he could very well catch a tide that will not be available to city men such as O'Connor (from the New York City Borough of Queens), or Bob Wagner and Franklin Roosevelt Jr., who are associated in the popular mind with magalopolitan Manhattan Island.

In pushing his fight to overthrow the Supreme Court "one man, one vote" edict, Senator Everett Dirksen hopes to put an amendment into the Constitution that will permit any State to elect one legislative house on a geographical, as opposed to a population, basis. There is need for the Dirksen Amendment in states like California, where the population tends to be jammed up in a small section of a tremendously variegated geographical whole. Under "one man, one vote" representation in two houses of the California State legislature, urban Los Angeles could, at least theoretically, reduce the whole San Francisco Bay region to the role of humble petitioners at the capitol in Sacramento. Dirksen is concerned lest the reapportionment now going on all over the nation will throw most of the political plums to the Democratic big city machines. But this fear ignores one thing, and that is the emergence everywhere of Suburbia.

The voice of Suburbia may, in many spots, tend to blend with the voice of the Central City. But this is by no means a certainty. Politicians, whether they are Republican or Democratic, must represent their constituents, and suburban and urban needs can differ. It could be extremely significant that the suburbs, under reapportionment, are actually gaining at the expense of the Central City areas. Where New York City, for example, promises to gain some strength at the expense of rural communities under the "one man, one vote" dispensation, Eugene Nickerson's suburban Nassau must gain relatively more. The same thing is true of other New York suburban areas, where a man like Nickerson presumably may have more appeal than big city characters like Bob Wagner.

In Illinois, which is Senator Dirksen's home State, reapportionment may favor the part of the State that shares the general problems of Chicago and the adjacent Lake Michigan shore communities. But this does not mean that Chicago itself will dominate the State Legislature. The fact is that, while Chicago itself will gain three more Senate seats, the suburbs will get six. This may not please downtown Illinois, but there will be considerable room for maneuver and combination in the Illinois Legislature, and Senator Dirksen's Republican Party will not necessarily lose by it.

In many suburban areas the Democratic Party has benefited from a continuing population flight from the Central City. The new middle classes in the suburbs are, in many instances, old Central City Democrats who have jumped several economic notches within the past twenty years. These people may balk at changing their party allegiance, but in candidates like Eugene Nickerson, whose liberalism is of a common sense variety, they tend to keep the Democratic Party at least relatively conservative in their own areas. If the Democrats, nationally, should go too far to the Left under pressure from the Central City, the suburbanite Democrats could respond by going Republican.

The rise of the suburbs, taken together with the push to "one man, one vote" reapportionment, make for new fluidity. So watch for the emergence of new politicians who know how to ride new tides.

Relaxation Is Best Cure For Acid Indigestion

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—My husband has excessive acidity. It backs up from his stomach and causes pain in his chest. What do you advise?

A—Acid indigestion, sour stomach, water brash and heartburn are common names for the symptoms you describe. The stomach contents are normally acid, so everything would be fine if they would only stay where they belong. As soon as they start to rise in the world, they irritate the esophagus, even though they may not be brought as high as the throat.

The most usual cause of heartburn is eating too fast, especially the hurried lunch taken at one's desk while tense with concentration on the job. Highly-spiced foods, greasy foods, too much concentrated sweet or a large amount of citrus fruit juice will usually aggravate the condition. In some persons, a tight belt will have the same effect. Excessive smoking and drinking are contributory causes.

Antacid tablets usually give temporary relief, but only by avoiding the causes mentioned, and especially by relaxing at mealtime, can the condition be corrected. The old antacid standby, should not be used because it aggravates the heartburn. It neutralizes the acid but stimulates more acid secretion—the so-called rebound phenomenon. Furthermore, if taken in excessive amounts, it reduces the acidity of the blood to a dangerous level.

In persons who have this complaint over a period of more than two weeks, it is important to have a doctor rule out coronary heart disease and hiatus or diaphragmatic hernia.

Q—What is Salutensin used for? Could it have any bad effects?

A—This is a combination of a diuretic, a tranquilizer and a blood pressure reducer. It has the advantage of effectively lowering the blood pressure in doses well below the dangerous level for all three components. It should not be taken by persons who are also taking digitalis or who have skipped beats. Too large a dose may cause nausea, dizziness and general lassitude.

Q—Are there any harmful effects from taking Proloid over a period of years?

A—Thyroglobulin (Proloid) is given as replacement therapy for thyroid deficiency. It should not be taken by persons with high blood pressure or angina pectoris unless they have a low basal metabolic rate. Undesirable side effects occur when too large a dose is given. The chief of these would be a rapid pulse and jittery nerves.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

"Iake It Easy, Someone Might Get Hurt —Like Me!"

Washington News

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) —

The general had been responsible for a range of guerrilla operations in South China and North Indochina in the war against Japan.

At the end, he'd had the job of seeing that the Japanese troops in North Viet Nam were disarmed and sent home.

In this, he negotiated with Ho Chi Minh, whose guerrillas operated in the area.

The American general said: "I wanted to send in two Chinese divisions to disarm the Japanese. But at that, Ho exploded. He told me he didn't want any Chinese divisions in his country. He insisted they'd never leave."

"So I made a compromise proposal. If Ho would agree to the two Chinese divisions, I'd personally guarantee they left on schedule."

"That's the deal we made. After the disarming, I saw to it the Chinese got on board ships I had ready."

Later, some of us were talking to another American general just back from Viet Nam. "Why isn't Chiang Kai-shek furnishing troops for the Viet Nam war," one man asked. "We turned him down in Korea — now here he is?"

"No," said the general. "The simple fact is the prime minister (of South Viet Nam) doesn't want Chinese troops in the country, even to fight for the south. He says the people wouldn't stand for it."

THE FIRST RECORDS on the Viet in the Red River Delta were written by the Chinese after they conquered the area in 111 B.C.

Two sisters led an uprising that threw out the Chinese in A.D. 39. The invaders reconquered the country five years later with harsh suppression.

Revolts against the Chinese were frequent during the next 900 years. But it wasn't until A.D. 938 that the Viet were able to drive them out. For almost seven centuries after that the Vietnamese fought off repeated Chinese invasions.

In 1406 the Chinese again took over the country. Their oppressions brought hatred. They were thrown out in 1427 after a 10-year guerrilla war.

The Chinese, who considered the Viet to be their "vassals," continued their invasions off and on until the French took over.

THIS HISTORY ISN'T EVIDENCE Mao Tse-tung won't ever send his divisions into Viet Nam.

It's not proof Ho's ruling group won't get desperate enough to ask for Red Chinese troops.

But it does indicate that if Mao's Red Chinese came into Viet Nam in numbers, a violent anti-Chinese underground would grow fast, in both North and South Viet Nam — directed against the "invaders" and against the government that brought them in.

Favors More Bombings

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Ret. Gen. Mark C. Clark, commander of U.N. ground forces in Korea in 1952 and 1953, says the United States should step up bombing of North Viet Nam to include the port of Haiphong.

Clark said in an interview that the United States "should go all out in Viet Nam and hit them hard with all we've got."

CRIME AND VENGEANCE —CONCLUSION

Philadelphia, Pa. — Almost dead, but not quite, Eddie Hough began to run through state governors. Duff gave him a number of short reprieves. Then came Governor Fine. He ran through some more. And lastly, Governor Leader. Twenty times facing the electric chair. Twenty-one. Twenty-two.

Which one would be the time they would permit him to die? From 1947 until 1954, Edward Hough was marked for death. On March 15, 1954, he received his thirteenth stay. Under the law, he should have gone the first time. Now he was so crushed that the sight of a dusty sunbeam in his cell caused him to burst into tears.

The state had secrets. There was a question of whether those secrets could be safely kept. The minds of men do not come equipped with time locks. Prosecutor Ephraim Lipschutz knew a secret. But he told no one. So did Joseph Nissley of the Pennsylvania state government.

On May 26, 1950, he signed a paper which said: "Application of Edward Hough has been commuted to life imprisonment." If that is true, why did successive governors give Hough last-hitch reprieves from the electric chair all the way to March 15, 1954? That amounts to four extra years of vengeance.

There are many questions. No answers. Dave Almeida won a second trial and was sentenced to life. Last year, in February, Governor Leader finally and officially commuted Hough's sentence to life.

Only one person died. That was Ephraim Lipschutz, the original prosecutor. He died in honor as a leading proponent of justice in Philadelphia. Eddie Hough is still in prison. He has a brilliant woman lawyer who doesn't expect to get a fee, but who is willing to fight because she thinks the State of Pennsylvania has overdone it in Hough's case.

Dirksen Merely Advocating School Prayer Clarification

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Freedom to pray is a right which the framers of the Constitution never thought would be challenged. For they inserted in the First Amendment a declaration that Congress shall not make any law "prohibiting the free exercise" of religion.

But, due to misunderstandings—if not mistakes in interpreting the Constitution—the right to pray has been interfered with by the courts. They have announced, in effect, that directed prayer is prohibited in public schools and other institutions which receive support from government funds.

Now a new Constitutional amendment has been introduced by Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois and, although he is the Republican leader of the Senate, his proposal has been endorsed by many Democrats as well as Republicans. The Illinois Senator declared in a speech to the Senate this week that he does not seek "to reverse the Supreme Court" or "to repeal the First Amendment to the Constitution."

He says that he merely is advocating a "clarification so that these decisions and their possible implications will not hover over every teacher, every principal and every educator, in the land as well as over the school boards and authorities who are charged with administering, our public educational system."

Mr. Dirksen points out that what the three principal decisions of the Supreme Court in recent years have really banned is a prayer which was composed by school authorities or a prayer whose recitation is directed to be made during school hours. The whole discussion turns, therefore, on whether the government itself is dictating that a prayer shall be said or whether the students are to be permitted of their own volition to recite any prayer they wish.

The controversy arose when the Supreme Court ruled in 1962 that it was unconstitutional for New York State to permit its own state school board to compose prayers and order them recited aloud in the presence of a teacher. From that time on, there has been confusion as to what could or could not be done. Sen. Dirksen's proposed amendment to the Constitution reads as follows: "Nothing contained in this Constitution shall prohibit the authority administering any school, school system, educational institution or other public building supported in whole or in part through the expenditure of public funds from providing for or permitting the voluntary participation by students or others in prayer. Nothing contained in this article shall authorize any such authority to prescribe the form or content of any prayer."

Mr. Dirksen says that many public-opinion polls show that a majority of the people disagree with what the court has ruled thus far and points out that more than 150 resolutions on the subject have been introduced in both houses of Congress by members of both parties. He declares also that "a king-sized protest throughout the land" brought this about.

Mr. Dirksen describes his amendment as follows: "It is voluntary. It is permissive. It places the responsibility upon local school authorities. It gives no authority to an official body to dictate the form or content of a prayer. Such authority may provide for or permit voluntary participation only. And that is the whole of it."

"The really alert hours — perhaps six or seven — are spent in school. These are the formative years for 50 million youngsters. These are the hours when the habit of prayer can best be nurtured. Prayer is the roadmap to God. It should be the greatest adventure for young minds. Each must find the way for himself. This takes some doing — the development of right habits, the building of spiritual muscle. This can come only from practice and rehearsal day after day when young minds are alert."

It is being assumed that parents of the pupils would agree on the nature of the prayers and on whether their children should attend the prayer period. Indeed, the prayers which have been used in the past have been simple and, in the main noncontroversial, as they have not dealt with sectarian philosophies. If the parents wish their children to engage in silent prayer or to read a prayer aloud during the few minutes set aside every day for this purpose, the question now is whether any interference by the courts or by public authorities would not constitute a violation of the Constitution, which says that the "free exercise" of religion must not be impaired.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

The lady lawyer decided to dig into that area. Who fired what shot? The police records show that Eddie Hough was found with a .45 pistol which had not been fired. Jim Smith had a .22 which was cold and full. Almeida's gun had never been found.

Hough had insisted all along that it was Almeida who had fired the shots at Patrolman Ingling. Two slugs dug out of the back wall of the Acme Market turned out to be .45. If Hough's .45 was not fired — and police tests showed that it hadn't — then Almeida must have fired.

At the second trial of Dave Almeida, Ephraim Lipschutz's old secret was revealed. A policeman finally admitted that a .38 slug had been picked up near Patrolman Ingling's body. It had blood on it, he said. An autopsy proved that the bullet which killed the policeman went through his head and out the other side. The hole was too small for a .45; just right for a .38.

Reason points to the policemen who rushed to the scene — Mark McGinley, Andrew Waters or William Fox — as the accidental killers. Even this does not excuse any of the convicts. Murder occurring in the commission of a felony is the responsibility of all the felons involved, whether they fired the shot or not.

There is a slender-hair argument about whether it is murder. It could be called accidental death in the performance of duty. Two weeks ago, Eddie Hough was here in Philadelphia for one more hearing. The federal courts now feel that he was not protected properly when he stood up to plead guilty, while the prosecution was withholding evidence that a police special killed a fine officer.

Hough has spent 19 years in prison. He wrote a couple of notes to me about the ride from Western State Penitentiary in Pittsburgh, where he lives, to Philadelphia. He saw grass and a horse standing unfenced, and he heard the chromatic chimes of a little girl's laughter.

He got permission to put his arm around his wife in court. His son, no longer a baby, wants to enlist in the Green Berets. "In all my life," Eddie said, "what I stole came to $1,000. For it, I spent half my life in prison. What have I got?"

He spread the palms of his hands. They were empty. . . .

Pressmen Voice Opposition to Merger in N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP) — The pressmen's union today opposed the proposed merger of three major daily newspapers here, saying it was against the public interest.

The union became the first of 10 newspaper unions to contest the proposed consolidation of the Herald Tribune, Journal and the Sun.

The president, James Byrne, called for a public hearing and announced he had asked the U.S. attorney general's office to divulge the arguments made by the papers in contending the merger was not against the public interest.

All 10 unions reacted to Monday's merger announcement by saying that the new World Journal Tribune Corp. was a new entity without any union contracts.

Their joint statement warned that the corporation could not expect to begin operations until it had reached complete agreements with the unions on all issues.

Byrne, head of the AFL-CIO New York newspaper Printing Pressmen's Union Local 2, said the merger would limit a free press and prevent competition.

Byrne said he would go to Washington next Wednesday to confer with officials of the Justice Department's Antitrust Division.

Sentence Ex-Utica Policeman to Term

UTICA, N. Y. (AP) — Peter A. Sebregandio, 24, one of two former Utica policemen convicted in a $5,631 payroll robbery of a construction company office, was sentenced today to an indeterminate term in the Elmira Reformatory.

The sentencing of Craig Owen, 30, was adjourned to March 31.

Sebregandio and Owen were convicted by a jury March 9 on charges of first-degree robbery, first-degree grand larceny and first-degree assault.

The charges stemmed from the robbery last July 30 of the Blackstone Construction Co. in nearby Washington Mills.

Revise Criteria For Draft Boards About Students

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Selective Service System has listed its revised criteria for local draft boards to consider in deciding whether to give deferments to college students.

The criteria are for students who have completed their freshman or higher years, including graduate study.

A spokesman said graduating high school seniors who have registered with the draft and plan to attend college can take the draft qualification test May 14, May 21 and June 3.

Otherwise, the only information available to their draft boards will be that they have graduated from high school and been accepted in an institution of higher education.

A score of 70 or higher on the test will be considered satisfactory for undergraduate college students, and 80 or more will be considered satisfactory for graduate students.

A student's class standing can also be taken into consideration as evidence of satisfactory progress in college. He must be in the upper half of his class after his freshman year, upper two-thirds after his sophomore year and upper three-fourths after his junior year.

Students attending graduate school must show they were accepted for admission in the first year after graduation from college and that they were in the upper one-fourth of their class during their final undergraduate year.

Only male students are considered in calculating class standing.

Draft boards can consider either the class standing or the test score in determining draft classifications but they are not required to base decisions on them.

Faiths Reach Accord on Issue Of Church, State

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Some of the world's leading Roman Catholic, Jewish and Protestant scholars, sizing up what they consider the right relationships between church and state, today found themselves in hearty accord.

Their harmony on the issue was in contrast to some of the sharp conflict of old, and reflected the impact of new approaches set forth by Vatican Council II.

After the Rev. Roberto Tucci, an Italian Jesuit and editor of Rome's La Civiltà Cattolica, delivered an analysis Thursday of the church's proper role in civil life, several theologians of other faiths registered strong approval.

Called Sound Charter "An exciting and sound charter for Christian political involvement," commented the Rev. Dr. Robert McAfee Brown, a Presbyterian scholar of Stanford University.

The Rev. Dr. Elwyn Smith, of Pittsburgh Theological Seminary, said the Catholic interpretation "cut POAU down with one stroke."

The reference was to a Washington, D.C., organization, Protestants and Other Americans United, which has been sharply critical of Roman Catholic policy in regard to public affairs.

The international conference at the University of Notre Dame, bringing together outstanding scholars from Europe and the Americas, also heard the Rev. John Courtney Murray, of Woodstock College, Md., detail the newly affirmed Catholic principles on religious liberty.

Right to Freedom They affirmed, he said, "that every man has a right to religious freedom — a right based on the dignity of the human person and that is therefore to be formally recognized as a civil right, protected by arms of constitutional law."

Father Murray, the chief architect of the church's new affirmation of religious liberty, noted it stresses religion should be free of "coercive intrusions from without, but that it should not enter" the outer government sphere.

Asked about the traditionally Roman Catholic practice of establishing special concordats with various governments, he commented, "I don't think concordats have much of a future."

Father Tucci, in outlining Roman Catholic position regarding relation to government, said it must shun governmentally established religion or church.

"The act of faith is in fact free," he said and it is impossible to impose it.

However, he said Christians should assume political responsibilities and in doing so accept "the rules of the democratic method," even when that puts his cause at a disadvantage.

Upstate City . . . of the defendants was a city employee.

Fraiman said the current investigation will cover, besides the Finance Department, the firm that supplies the meter locks and the Duncan Parking Meter Co. of Chicago, which manufactured the supposedly "burglarproof" meters.

Fraiman said afterward that methods under study to try to prevent future parking meter thefts include possible use of tokens and of a vehicle with a vacuum device to retrieve coins from meters.

It was a different story in the Assembly, however, where the Republican Minority Leader Perry B. Duryea indicated he intended to challenge the court's decree in at least three districts.

The three possible areas of challenge were in Albany County, Broome County and an Orange - Rockland county district. Duryea said the district lines favored Democrats unduly.

The Court of Appeals set March 29 as the deadline for filing protests against the plan.

Spot 4 Alpinists KLEINE SCHEIDEGG, Switzerland (AP) — Clouds parted briefly over blizzard-swept Mt. Elger today, revealing four men struggling upward about 250 feet below the summit.

There had been fear for their safety after 16 hours had elapsed without contact by radio.

The four are members of the five-man Alpine team striving to reach the 13,676-foot summit by way of the sheer north face despite plummeting temperatures and howling winds. The summit never has been reached from the north face.

The four were spotted by a telescope from an observation point in the Kleine Scheidegg pass. But as a German observer counted the men, a cloud shrouded the mountain again obscuring visibility.

Check Car Thefts Local police were notified today of two car thefts. A report at 2 a. m. noted the theft of the car of Eleanor Howland, of Vandale Road, West Hurley from St. James at Fair Street, and another at 10 a. m. said the car of Melford Stokes, of RD 2, Sawkill, had been stolen from Elmendorf Street.

Charge Two From Westchester in Cigarette Theft

Two Westchester County men were taken into custody on Thursday by Rhinebeck State Police on charges of second degree burglary in connection with a daring break-in at the Grand Union Store in Hyde Park on Tuesday night.

Arrested by Senior BCI Investigator Emmett F. Donahue and BCI Investigator Richard Spreen were John Anthony Raleigh, 28, of Pelham Road, New Rochelle, and Carl Richard Calabrese, 37, of 225 White Plains Road, White Plains. Arraigned last night before Justice of the Peace Raymond Hill, Town of Hyde Park, the accused men waived preliminary hearing and were committed to the Dutchess County jail to await grand jury action.

According to authorities, the men are accused of ripping a lock from a rear door of the store while employees and customers were in other parts of the building, and stealing 90 cartons of assorted cigarettes valued at $260.

It was reported that someone noted the registration number of a car seen leaving the rear of the store just before the theft was discovered, and a check made on the car registration led to the arrests.

Raid Village Haunts

NEW YORK (AP)—Forty detectives and policemen, some of them garbed in beatnik outfits, have swept through Greenwich Village in a raid aimed at drying up the area's narcotics traffic.

Thursday night and early today, 27 persons were arrested, climaxing two weeks of intensive undercover investigation by officers who infiltrated the hangouts favored by the alleged dope users and pushers. The operation was led by Chief Inspector Sanford D. Grelik. He said the effort tied in with Mayor John V. Lindsay's announced campaign to clean up the village and the Times Square area.

Calling the sweep "the largest narcotics raid in years," Grelik said it "emphasizes the seriousness of the campaign we have undertaken."

Mintz Reported As Critical in Bellevue Hospital

NEW YORK (AP) — Hyman E. Mintz, a former state legislator under a jail sentence for bribe conspiracy, was reported in critical condition at Bellevue Hospital today with the heart trouble he has suffered for years.

His onetime legislative aide, Morris (Moishe) Gold, an admitted perjurer who turned state's evidence against Mintz, won a suspended sentence 24 hours after Mintz was sentenced to a year in jail.

Sentenced Wednesday

Mintz, a 57-year-old Sullivan County Republican who chose not to run for re-election to the State Assembly after his indictment last summer, was sentenced Wednesday. He was taken to the City Penitentiary on Rikers Island and, because of his heart condition, was lodged in the jail hospital.

Within three hours of his arrival there, it was learned Thursday night, Mintz was hurriedly transferred to Bellevue.

His co-defendant in the bribe conspiracy trial, Earl Kaplan, 53, who also suffers from a heart ailment, remained in the jail hospital.

Kaplan, former police chief of the Town of Fallsburgh, N.Y., received a six-month sentence Wednesday.

In Jail Since Feb. 25

Both men had been in the penitentiary hospital since Feb. 25 when a jury convicted them and a judge spurned defense pleas that they be released on bail pending appeal.

Mintz and Kaplan were convicted of conspiring to give Detective Sidney Berkowitz, then of Manhattan Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan's office, a $3,000 bribe for inside information on a grand jury's investigation.

The jury was probing reports of a $100,000 bribe to insure licensing of the Finger Lakes Race Track near upstate Canandaigua. The track, licensed in 1950, is now under new ownership.

Mintz, Gov. tested, turned the money over to L. Judson Morhouse, who later resigned as GOP state chairman, but the $100,000 was returned to its original owners when Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller "got wind" of it, Gold added.

No Charge Made

No charge has been made against Morhouse in the case.

On Thursday, Gold appeared before State Supreme Court Justice Francis T. Murphy for sentencing on a perjury charge. He was given a suspended sentence on an indefinite prison term because his admission of guilt and cooperation with the investigation showed he had a "concept" of his crime, the judge said.

Revamp LBJ Plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's luxury airplane has been refitted so he can talk face to face with more guests on each flight and, if he chooses, hold aerial news conferences.

The most striking features of the renovated Boeing 707 transport are folding interior walls and built-in microphones and loudspeakers so the President can use the plane as a flying auditorium or conference room. Johnson made his first flight aboard the revamped Air Force One when he went to New York Wednesday to attend funeral services for the wife of Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y. On that trip he tried out some of the plane's new facilities.

Judy Remains Fair

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Judy Lynn Funsch, who has had pneumonia 18 times in her five years of life, remains in fair condition but with an improved appetite, doctors at the University of Michigan Medical Center reported Thursday.

The 28-pound blonde child from Flint, Mich., underwent intricate heart surgery two weeks ago today, and developed pneumonia for the 18th time.

But without the operation—to remove an obstruction from a heart vein—she would have died within a few years, doctors say.

The Streisand show, this time called "Color Me Barbra," will be broadcast by CBS on Wednesday night (9-10 EST). Earlier in the evening (8-9) ABC will broadcast a spoof of "Alice in Wonderland," which is subtitled "What's a Nice Girl Like You Doing in a Place Like This?"

The television girl-watching season gets off to an easy start Saturday night when NBC does a live broadcast of the finals in the "America's Junior Miss Pageant" (8-9) from Mobile, Ala.

Three new programs, all on ABC, will have their first performances on Monday. They start with "Confidential Women," an afternoon (2-2:30) dramatic series with week-long plots. "Arlene Dahl's Beauty Spot" will occupy a daily five-minute slot between 4:25 and 4:30. Finally, "The Avengers," a British-made spy series, will move into the old "Ben Casey" spot Monday night (10-11) for a run through Labor Day.

CBS' Tuesday night news show (10-11) will be "A Policeman's Lot," a study of big city law enforcement. And on Thursday (9-10) ABC will show another program in the "This Proud Land" series, an hour concentrating on the South.

Leaders Inherit Financial Mess In Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesia's new rulers have inherited a financial mess which even optimists concede will require years to clean up. The reform regime's popularity and survival are likely to depend on the outcome.

For Indonesia to meet her 1966 foreign debt obligations would require $450 million.

Indonesia has not a hope of paying. Foreign exchange reserves are exhausted. The nation lives on current earnings, derived almost entirely from rubber, oil, tin and copra.

Oil revenues are not revealed officially, but an industry source estimates they were $75 million in 1965.

Rubber, tin, copra and other exports earned an estimated $450 million. That adds up to foreign exchange earnings of $525 million last year.

But this is a nation of 105 million people. Enough imports to keep the Indonesian economy sputtering along even at quarter speed cost $350 million last year.

While President Sukarno's regime squandered millions of dollars on official and private trips abroad, only partial payments were made on foreign obligations. Not only did these partial payments exhaust the remaining $175 million but a great deficit yawned.

Neither Strikingly Good Nor Bad Now

Mrs. Gandhi, Johnson Will Probe Relationships Monday

By CONRAD FINK
NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India's relationship with the United States is endlessly discussed here and in Washington. But no one has been doing any long-range planning.
That clearly has been left for President Johnson and Prime Minister Indira Gandhi when they meet Monday in Washington.
Perhaps at no time in the many years of U.S.-India relations has so much depended on how two leaders hit it off.
Relations at the moment are neither strikingly good nor bad. Whether the new course is closer cooperation and agreement on pressing issues of the day, or a gradual divergence of views, will depend on Johnson and Mrs. Gandhi.

Elaborate briefing papers have been drawn up on two general areas:
—The future of the massive U.S. aid program in India, now totaling $6.2 billion in development aid and $3.1 billion in food for peace;
—India's stance on international problems important to the United States, such as the Vietnam war and containment of Communist China.
American diplomats are pushing, without much success, for economic reforms in India which they feel would guarantee a payoff for the U.S. aid programs.
India has responded in part with detailed plans for shifting emphasis in its development from heavy industry to agriculture — thus holding out the lure of some day ending the life or death reliance of U.S. food shipments.

Johnson seems likely to ask Mrs. Gandhi for assurances of a follow-through on improving agriculture before he considers the question of long-range economic aid, cut off during the India-Pakistan war last September.
Johnson undoubtedly would get such an assurance.
It is considerably less clear whether Mrs. Gandhi would agree to other reforms, such as liberalizing trade or improving India's investment climate so American businessmen can start carrying some of the load now on official Washington's shoulders.

Argument Holds Over Makeup of Jakarta Cabinet

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Argument over the makeup of the new Indonesian Cabinet continued today with President Sukarno apparently putting up resistance to the appointment of an anti-Communist government.

Radio Jakarta also quoted Lt. Gen. Suharto, the country's new strongman, as saying "opportunists" and "vested interests" were trying to interfere. Observers said he apparently was referring to several political parties with nominees for the Cabinet.

Sources said the new Cabinet probably would have 24 to 30 members, compared with the unwieldy 100-man Cabinet Sukarno put together over the years.

The Indonesian Parliament, an appointed advisory assembly, urged Thursday that the new Cabinet be free from Communist elements. One of Suharto's first acts after assuming power from Sukarno two weeks ago was to ban the Indonesian Communist party.

The Indonesian Foreign Office ordered Peking's New China News Agency to shut down its Jakarta bureau temporarily and revoked the accreditation of its correspondents, the official news agency Antara said.

Informed sources said Indonesia was negotiating with Thailand to buy rice to meet a growing food shortage. Terms for payment remain the big question, the sources added.

Indonesia has no foreign exchange reserves, but the anti-Communist Thai government may extend credits to the new Suharto regime, some Indonesians believe.

Action Settled

An automobile negligence action brought by Jean J. Miller against Herman A. Cooke for damages from the death of Henry Miller, Woodstock, has been settled in Supreme Court after being partially tried. The action seeking to recover $200,000 damages arose from an accident on Route 28 February 7, 1963. There was a collision between the Miller car and a log truck of defendant Larkin and Vogt appeared for plaintiff and George F. Roesch appeared as attorney for record for defendant. The action was before Supreme Court Justice Lawrence H. Cooke and a jury.

Basin Authority Extends Drought To April, May

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Delaware River Basin Commission, generally optimistic about the water supply situation in its area, has nevertheless extended its drought emergency order for two months—through April and May.

"Studies of water supply situation indicate that water supply storage conditions in the basin are substantially better at this time than they were a year ago," the commission said Wednesday at its monthly meeting.

Cites 60 PC Return

The commission said this was indicated by a 60 per cent return to normal conditions in the New York City system—which has had excellent water saving measures the past year.

"But the amount in storage in that system remains about 80 billion gallons less than normal, the commission warned.

The commission also said the salt line of the Delaware River—which determines the quality of drinking water—may be presently beyond the threatening stage "but now comes the season when it marches upstream and toward Philadelphia."

The line is now below the Delaware River Memorial Bridge, near Wilmington, the commission said.

Declares in July

The commission originally declared the emergency in July, 1965, during a severe drought in the Northeast. The measure has been extended several times.

The commission said it feels the situation has improved to the extent where "it can keep the water supply out of danger."

The general storage situation in the four-state area embraced by the commission is good, it was reported.

The states are, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and Delaware.

Two Escape Injury

Operators of two cars escaped injury at 9:15 p. m. Thursday when their vehicles were involved in a collision on Route 81, Town of Coxsackie, according to Leeds state police. Sergeant Joseph Cross said Sherman Wood, 17, Coxsackie, was driving north on the highway and Franklin Ray, 22, West Coxsackie, pulled from a side street into Route 81 and the cars collided. No injuries were reported and no police action was taken.

BOYS CLUB WEEK—Two youngsters—Robert Weiss, left and Richard Mayr—help Joseph W. Robertson, president, call attention to the observance of National Boys Club Week starting Monday, March 28. John Holochuck, executive director of the local club, meanwhile has lined up several events to mark the observance. (Freeman photo by Wagenfohr)

Events Listed To Mark Week

Boys Club week will be celebrated starting Monday at the Kingston Boys Club, it was announced today by John Holochuck executive director.

Holochuck outlined the series of events planned for Boys Club Week. Monday will be Open House and family day. On this day the boys may bring their families to tour the club.

Tuesday will be contest day for the boys.

Wednesday will be Swap Night and Bingo day.

Thursday there will be movies. Friday there will be a penny carnival and Saturday will be buddy day when members may bring a friend to the club to show him what the club is like.

Holochuck expressed the hope that members of the public would come to the Boys Club headquarters on Greenkill Avenue to see the progress that has been made in renovating the facilities during the last year.

"The Boys Club movement is constantly growing throughout the country," said Holochuck, "but we are particularly proud of the progress made here in Kingston. We hope that interested parties will take advantage of this opportunity, to come over to see the strides that have been made."

Urges Legislation To Outlaw Mafia, Other Membership

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief of police in Rochester, N. Y., says organized crime is "not a myth" and urges legislation to outlaw membership in the Mafia and other crime syndicates.

William M. Lombard told a special Senate judiciary subcommittee Thursday that a bill it proposes would strike a "devastating blow" to organized crime in the United States.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., the subcommittee chairman, asked Lombard whether he was convinced organized crime exists.

"It exists in every section of the country," Lombard replied. "It is absolutely not a myth."

The bill, one of six introduced by the committee, also was endorsed by Kentucky Atty. Gen. Robert Matthews, who represented the Southern Association of Attorneys General at the hearing.

The measure would make membership in crime organizations punishable by 20 years' imprisonment, with fines up to $20,000.

Joseph Niepce (1765-1833), French scientist, invented the first photographic technique, heliography.

Break in Ocean Cable Hampers Communications

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the four transatlantic cables broke Thursday night, shifting the load onto the other three, the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. reported. Press Wireless communications were hampered.

An AT&T spokesman said transatlantic calls went through normally but a short wait during peak periods of overseas calls was possible today.

Used by Wire Services

The broken cable was one used by Press Wireless, among others. Press Wireless leases channels on its section of the cable to major newspaper and news-gathering agencies, including The Associated Press and United Press International.

Press Wireless reported it was unable to secure an alternate cable line to London, and was using radio.

Radio communication has been reported troublesome the past few days due to atmospheric conditions.

The Associated Press has between New York and London maintained communications through an alternate cable line, called Telex, but its use has been restricted to urgent dispatches.

Cause of the break and its deep sea location have not been determined, the AT&T spokesman said.

He said it might be three or four days before the break could be located and repaired.

Set Consecration For Archbishop; Known in Area

A priest who served parishes in the Hudson Valley at Hudson and Albany will be consecrated today in his native Albany as archbishop of Anchorage, Alaska for the Roman Catholic Church.

He is the Most Rev. Joseph T. Ryan, the Associated Press reported today.

Cardinal Designated

Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, was designated the consecrator for the ceremony in the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception.

An outdoor, pontifical procession opened the program, to which more than 25 bishops were invited.

Bishop Ryan, 52, had been national secretary of the Catholic Near East Welfare Association in New York City and a priest of the Albany diocese.

Archbishop Egidio Vagnozzi, apostolic delegate to the United States, announced appointment of the new archbishop by Pope Paul VI Feb. 9. The Anchorage archdiocese covers 138,985 square miles and contains 21 priests.

Ordained in 1939
Archbishop Ryan was ordained in 1939. He served parishes in Glens Falls, Herkimer and Troy before entering the seminary.

The Most Rev. Thomas A. Donnellan, bishop of Ogdensburg and a classmate of the new archbishop in the 1930s at St. Joseph's Seminary, Dunwoodie, was selected to deliver the sermon.

101—Just Another Day

TECHNY, Ill. (AP) — Being 101 years old isn't as much fun as being 100, says Mrs. Emilie Ensinger, 101 today.

She's celebrating her birthday with a party in St. Anne's Home for the Aged in Techny, where she's been a resident for the last 12 years.

"That 100-year birthday party was fun, but 101—well, it's just another birthday," she remarked. "Even at my age, one doesn't care to grow older."

Board to Seek New Attorney

The Saugerties Village Board is faced with the necessity of appointing a new village attorney next month. Meeting Tuesday night, the board filed a letter from Robert Carnright, who has served as village attorney since April 1, 1963, in which he asked that his name not be considered for reappointment at the April reorganization meeting.

Before bowing out of the picture, Carnright wished the Board continued success in village affairs and promised his full cooperation to the new village attorney, when appointed.

The Board heard a complaint from George Terpening of Market Street concerning the problem of rusty water which arises in the Market Street area when street cleaning machines are filled from hydrants there. To remedy the unsightly situation, men operating the machines will draw water more slowly in the future and an attempt will be made to take water primarily from less populated areas.

The Board also gave its permission to two local businesses to put up signs on their buildings. The requests for these came from Skylark Corporation, 237 Main Street, and Chester Dorosz, 45 South Partition Street.

Announcement was made that the new hose washer has arrived and a company representative is expected shortly to demonstrate its use.

In a final item of business, the Board approved two new firemen as members of the C. A. Lynch Hose Company. They were John Kerbert and Alfred Misasi.

To Demonstrate Special Talents At Hobby Show

Mrs. Mary Collins, chairman of the art, crafts and hobby show being sponsored by St. Mary of the Snow CYO, has announced final plans for the event.

The show, which will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. at the parish hall, is open to students in Grades one through 12. As an extra added attraction, several well known area residents will exhibit their collections and others will demonstrate special talents in such fields as art and ceramics.

Among Saugertiesians in this category who will participate in the show are Joseph Sinnott, John Remensnyder and Clyde Miller.

The public is invited to attend and anyone wishing to exhibit collections on a non-competitive basis may do so.

$1,344.80 for Dimes

Catherine Van Gaasbeek, publicity chairman, has announced the total amount collected during the recent Mothers March of Dimes conducted in Saugerties by Lamouree Hackett Post 72, American Legion Auxiliary.

She said the grand total for this year was $1,344.80 and expressed the Auxiliary's appreciation to the public for their loyal support and the many canvassers for their work.

Selection Date Fast Approaching

The date for selecting Saugerties Outstanding Citizen of the Year is fast approaching. The Saugerties Jaycees, who sponsor the award, urge local residents and organizations to submit nomination blanks for the man of their choice. All nominations must be returned prior to March 30.

Four judges will select a winner, who will be presented with a plaque at a testimonial dinner to be held in his honor at the Flamingo Restaurant on April 20. Serving as judges will be John Robbins, Kenneth Beadle, Frank Greco and Frank Antalek.

The dinner will be open to the public and tickets will be available later.

Nomination forms are available at both branches of the Saugerties National Bank and Trust Company, Lezette-Lachmann Insurance Agency, Michael's Barber Shop and Victory Market. For additional information, contact Stanley Davidson.

Kingston Rotary Marks It's 50th Anniversary

Kingston Rotary Club's inaugural observance of its 50th anniversary Wednesday was marked by a review of the club's organization by Past President Ray A. Elmendorf and a summary of civic activities down through the years by Past District Governor Sam Scudder. Participating in the program was the president of Albany Rotary Club.

Mrs. Addison D. Pardee, widow of one of the charter members, a guest, was presented by A. T. Young, club treasurer. Dr. Charles D. Carter, who has been a member of Kingston Rotary since 1917, was saluted by the club.

From the Kingston Rotary scrap book, Elmendorf read the following outline by A. D. Pardee on "How Rotary Came to Kingston."

Inspiration had much to do with the organizing of our club. In September, 1914, I was privileged to attend the convention of the National Association of Casualty and Surety Agents, held that year at the Greenbrier Hotel, White Sulphur Springs, West Va. At this convention were prominent insurance men from all parts of the United States, and many of them were members of Rotary Clubs in their home cities. They talked Rotary and naturally as the result of lobby conversations with them I became interested in Rotary. In 1915, it was my good fortune to have won a delegate credential to the Aetna-Liners Convention held that year in San Francisco, Cal., and as we journeyed across the continent, I came in contact with several insurance men who were members of Rotary clubs in the New England States. They all were boosters for Rotary which further increased my interest in the organization.

HALF-CENTURY CELEBRATION—Organization of Kingston Rotary Club 50 years ago was reviewed and the activities of the club were noted at the luncheon-meeting Wednesday. The birthday cake was cut by Mrs. Addison D. Pardee, widow of a founder of the local service club. At Mrs. Pardee's right is A. Theodore Young, treasurer. Dr. Dale B. Lake, president of Kingston Rotary, is shown at her left. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Back in 1915, many of my evenings were spent in bowling at the YMCA in company with Willis Hills, and on two or three different evenings while we were engaged in bowling, Willis related to me the good times he had enjoyed at the meetings of the Albany Rotary Club. These meetings highly enthused Willis and he seemed self sold on the Rotary idea.

As I recall it, it was some time in January, 1916, at the suggestion of Willis Hills, Dr. Keator, Willis and myself met one evening at the YMCA and discussed the advisability of taking steps to organize a Rotary Club in Kingston. We decided to proceed cautiously and first determine if there was sufficient interest on the part of the professional and business men of Kingston to such an organization, and to help us to determine this question, the self-appointed committee of three held an evening dinner meeting at the YMCA, ten men attending it. Considerable interest was manifested in Rotary by these men, but to avoid making the mistake of starting something which we could not finish, a subsequent meeting, attended by twenty men, was held when we definitely decided to proceed with the organization work. I was delegated the privilege of asking International Rotary for the necessary organization papers, but much to my surprise, we learned that papers of this character had been previously issued to William F. Hoehn, then secretary of our Chamber of Commerce, and before anything could be done by our group towards organizing the club, we found it necessary to have the papers in the hands of Mr. Hoehn returned to International headquarters; when this was done, new organization papers were issued to us.

The next step was the organization meeting, but before holding such a meeting, it was deemed advisable to hold a "get-together" meeting. Invitations were extended to William Gettinger, then International Vice President, and to the members of the Albany Rotary Club. This "get-together" meeting was held at Hotel Eichler on Saturday evening, March 25, 1916; it was attended by 31 members of the Albany Rotary Club, International Vice President Gettinger, William J. Beamish, then secretary of the New York Rotary Club, and 32 invited business and professional men of Kingston. George Elwell, president of the Albany Rotary Club, presided, and it was a most successful meeting. We were told by the Rotarians who attended this meeting what Rotary stood for and some of its principles. It was made plain to us that Rotary was no booze club, that Rotary was never intended to take the place of our Chamber of Commerce, or any similar organization; that the field which Rotary invades is not covered by a Chamber of Commerce, nor by any fraternity; it was not an organization for profit and any one who joined it with that object and purpose in view, sooner or later would find he had made a mistake. To quote the words of Dr. George Dugan, at that time a member of the Albany Rotary Club and who later became one of our most popular District Governors. Dr. Dugan said: "Rotary is an organization where men of every nation and creed can meet on one, clean, common level. Rotary stands for service to our fellowmen."

The inspiration which this Saturday night meeting left with us was echoed at our organization meeting held on Wednesday, March 29th, 1916. This meeting was also held at Hotel Eichler and was attended by 30 men. Dr. George Chandler, Walter P. Crane, Palmer Canfield Jr., Dr. Frank Keator, Frank B. Seeley and Willis Hills were elected directors; who, in turn elected Willis Hills president, which honor rightfully belonged to him. The first year of our club's existence was a hard one — many disappointments were experienced due to poorly attended meetings and committees failing to function much of which could be attributed to lack of sufficient interest by the members in the work of our club. At one time it seemed our efforts were leading to failure and that it might be necessary for us to return our charter to International headquarters with a piece of crepe tied to it. I recall one meeting in particular where only 12 men gathered for luncheon; no speaker or entertainment provided for by the entertainment committee which was nothing unusual in those days; after the luncheon was served the meeting ended — a complete failure, but notwithstanding these difficulties, Willis Hills had sufficient faith in Rotary to stick to his job as president. In discussing Rotary problems with him one afternoon in his office, he made this remark: "We will have a Rotary Club in Kingston if only you and I attend the meetings."

Kingston Rotary was fortunate in having Willis Hills for its first president, for, as I see it, it was due to his firm yet kindly leadership that Kingston Rotary continued to exist. Willis believed in Rotary principles and he lived them and two mottoes, "Service above self" and "Let me live in a house by the side of the road and be friend to man" had much to do with Willis's Rotary activities.

J. Howard Riley, of Wallkill in Ulster County, has been selected as an alternate to the National 4-H Conference next month in Washington, D. C., it was announced today by Carlton M. Conklin, Cooperative Extension Agent, 4-H Division.

In making the announcement, Conklin said that the quality of applicants for the conference was "extremely high with excellent 4-H records supporting the members." He said that selection of Riley, the son of Mr.

and Mrs. Edward Riley, of Wallkill, "represents a real achievement and honor for him."

The youth's local leader in 4-H work has been his father, Conklin said.

The 4-H selectee is an active member completing projects in garden, dairy, handyman and served as a Junior Leader for several years prior to his enrollment in Oneonta State Teachers College. He was a member of the County 4-H Dairy Judging Team and received special honors as delegate to Capitol Day in 1965 and New York City Honor Award trip in 1964.

The final selection of delegates and alternates to the National 4-H Conference was made with a personal interview at the State 4-H Division at Cornell by Extension Leaders — 4-H, John Stookey and Phyllis Stout. Following the judging of 54 submitted records from 4-H youth throughout New York State and a final 12 personal interviews, two girls and three boys plus one alternate were selected. The National 4-H Conference will be held from April 17-23, at Washington, D. C.

Hughes Angling For Exchange to Locate in N.J.

TRENTON, N. J. (AP) — Gov. Richard J. Hughes bids the New York Stock Exchange today to invest its future in New Jersey.

He was scheduled to meet with Keith Funston, president of the Exchange, for a rundown on just where the market might be going if it decides to pull out of Wall Street.

About two dozen New Jersey municipalities ranging from Atlantic City to Newark have issued invitations to meet with Hughes, who is expected to be going if it decides to pull out of Wall Street.

Hughes said he asked for the meeting in Funston's office but said he didn't intend to "interfere with the internal affairs of New York City."

"The exchange has said on its own that it is considering leaving New York," Hughes said. "I will point out that if it makes that unilateral decision we would welcome all or part of the Exchange as a new business resident of New Jersey."

The Exchange has threatened to move out of New York as a result of Mayor John V. Lindsay's proposal to increase taxes on stock transactions.

As soon as the Exchange indicated it might shift some or all of its operations from New York, New Jersey communities made independent bids.

New Jersey, however, doesn't have the field to itself. Connecticut has made overtures and so have communities on Long Island, N.Y. The basic pitch is that there are less taxing places to operate from than Wall Street.

Ignores Order, Is Shot

NEW YORK (AP) — Time stopped Thursday night for Garrell Gadsden, 22, but the watch clutched in his hand kept ticking away.

Gadsden, a Harlem youth, lay dead on the pavement after a policeman's bullet went through his neck.

Police said he ignored the officer's order to halt his flight from the scene of an alleged mugging in which the watch was taken from John Rhett, 43.

Patrolman Dennis Barry, 32, watched from across the other side of Lenox Avenue in Harlem as three men pushed Rhett into the hallway of a building. Barry crossed the street and the trio rushed out as he entered the building.

The men took his watch and wallet, Rhett complained. Barry ordered the fleeing trio to halt, then fired once in the air. When they kept going, he leveled his gun on Gadsden and fired.

Barry arrested one of the other two, William Willis, 22, on a robbery charge, but the third man fled into the night.

Lindsay Issues

Fiery Warning To Albany Solons

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay threatens that if his tax and transit consolidation programs are not passed, he will "take to the streets to remind the voters in the fall that Albany — all of Albany — is responsible."

The Republican mayor made the threat last night in a fiery speech at the annual awards dinner of the Citizens Budget Commission, one of the city's leading civic organizations.

Lindsay did not say what he meant by "all of Albany" — where there is a Republican-controlled Senate, a Democratic-controlled Assembly and Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Rockefeller is running for reelection this year and there also are elections for all legislative seats.

Lindsay told the dinner gathering: "Police Commissioner Howard Leary has requested funds for 300 patrol cars that he feels are necessary for the safety of the citizens of the city."

"If my tax program is defeated in Albany and the police force is cut and the streets are not safe, the people will know who is responsible."

"And if they do not know, I will take to the streets in the fall before the election to remind them."

"And if they are hot and crowded and uncomfortable in the subways, they will know that the blame belongs in Albany, because they defeated my plan for transit unification. And if they do not remember, I will take to the streets to remind them."

Problem of Living

The idea of racial discrimination was displayed the other night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brown, a Negro household. We had coffee, broke bread together, and talked over the problems of living with the fears that the women had about being moved out of their home, with no place to go.

Fear, like love, is human nature, and people living near or far from the river experience it. Racial discrimination is not the problem, only a manifestation of what faces the city and the world today as two thousand years ago, love, or the lack of it. Not knowing how to give and receive it from people has caused men to become in love with everything but each other: with money and the making of it, drink, art, political maneuverings with other nations and persons. Everyone is quick to give and take orders, and it has become one big habit. Do we stop to feel the other person's feelings, which often speak louder than the words he may be saying? Or are we afraid of our own true feelings, such as feeling "sorry for someone who has not heat?"

Are we afraid of what people will think about us if we offer a hand to people who need a piece of our mind and heart? Or maybe just a cup of coffee and a talk to show we care that we are living on this earth. This land was God's before it was any man's, and we should respect it, if not try to care for it and make it better.

So much fighting goes on about who should live and how, that men make their own hell on earth. We wait for God to come and bring us heaven, and cry "God Damn" when things go wrong, but everyone has some ounce of creativity in him which he might find to put to use, to improve his living conditions. That is if he cares about himself, his family, and others.

Unfortunately, love is a hard thing to do. It takes understanding another person, or group of individual persons, rather than standing over him with an iron hand, gun, thousand dollar bill to bribe him into doing something. Neither does love turn the other cheek because you're gonna hate the slap anyway. At least don't kill the guy. It hurts a parent when he hits his child, not because the parent feels he is not loving the child, but because he realizes that all men, whether they are an adult or a child, has this fighting meanness in them, (or I wouldn't write this). Or is it because he learns to hate from the adults he lives with, and must fight too, for his own survival? There is no definite answer here, except to put creative feelings into practice rather than destructive ones.

Wherever we are walking on this earth, and whatever we do, it would be pleasanter, if we would use our greatest machine—the heart... everyone knows what this is, or knew at one time.

This paper does not turn on hot water, heat, or build healthy bodies, but it tries to reach you, and maybe open a mind and a heart or two.

Noted Heart Specialist Due Mar. 30 at Point

The famed heart expert who was best known as physician to former President Eisenhower, will make two appearances at the United States Military Academy at West Point on West Point on March 30, it was announced today.

Dr. Paul Dudley White will mark his third visit in three years at the Academy in addresses to officers and Cadet Fourth Classmen (freshmen) at the point.

The noted cardiologist, nearly 80, is a doctor who "practices what he preaches" when it comes to physical fitness. He will speak at the two meetings on exercise and the heart, his favorite topic. His talk to officers will also center on heart disease.

Dr. White believes exercise is the key to physical fitness and a strong heart, and he still finds time in his busy schedule for bicycle riding and hiking.

His visit is sponsored by the Military Academy's Office of Physical Education. Following Dr. White's 1964 visit, the Military Academy instituted a "walk for fitness" program modeled after guidelines set by the heart specialist.

Born in Rock Springs, Mass., Dr. White received his B.A. from Harvard in 1908, and his M.D. from the Harvard Medical School in 1911. Since then he has received numerous awards and honorary degrees from medical organizations, universities and governments throughout the world for his work and research on the heart.

He has held many executive posts in national and international medical associations and societies, and was president of both the American Heart Association and the International Society of Cardiology.

Dr. White has served in advisory roles in many top governmental agencies, including consultant to the Surgeons General of both the Army and Navy and the U. S. Veterans Administration and adviser to the Point Four missions to Pakistan, India, Israel and Greece. He also was chairman of the U. S. Medical Missions to Czechoslovakia, India and Greece.

In 1964 he was awarded the Presidential Medal of Freedom by President Johnson. It is the highest award given by the U. S. Government to a civilian.

Dr. White will speak at 4 p. m. to officers at the South Auditorium, Thayer Hall, and will address members of the Cadet fourth class in the South Auditorium at 7:30 p. m.

If it's such a small world, why does it take so much of our money to run it?

It is perfectly monstrous the way people go about nowadays saying things against one behind one's back that are absolutely and entirely true.

Old Lady—Here's a penny for you, my good man. How did you become so destitute?

Beggar—I was like you, mum. Always giving away vast sums to the poor.

A car is stolen in the U. S. every 90 seconds, and by a teenager in eight out of ten cases.

A patient called his dentist for an appointment.

Dentist—So sorry, not today. I have eighteen cavities to fill.

Whereupon he hung up the phone, picked up his golf bag and departed from his office.

The ideal organization is one in which every man knows more about his work than the boss.

There's a big difference between free speech and cheap talk.

Paul Smith, of Adirondack Hotel fame had a lawsuit involving a title to some property. When he walked into the courtroom in Malone, New York, his opponent came over to see him.

Opponent—Paul, are those your witnesses sitting over there?

Paul Smith—They are.

Opponent—Then you win. I've used them witnesses twice myself.

Man has a social nature. He craves friendship, companionship, and fellowship. He craves these most when his heart is torn with the pain of parting and filled with grief.

The pastor was reading a long list of announcements from the pulpit, and the list included at least one meeting, and sometimes two or three for every night of the week.

When he finished, he observed: Pastor—Well, it looks like this week is all shot to heaven.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The big question facing the government, business and the stock market—and the sometimes forgotten consumer—is whether the demands of an affluent society are growing faster than the supplies turned out by booming industrial activity.

That demand is rising for many goods is evident. That supplies of some goods and materials are short and surpluses of others beginning to disappear also is widely noted.

Shows in Prices
The result shows up in the prices in good stores, in the cost of raw materials that factories need, and in lengthening time for deliveries.

That there is competition between military and civilian industrial projects for short-supply commodities and highly skilled workers is becoming daily more visible. This is expected to increase.

But the big question is the over-all picture. It is not just the particular problem in some goods, some factories. It is how close to the ceiling of production the economy is coming. And it is whether the expansion of production facilities can come quickly enough to keep up with growing demands.

And on the answer to that general question will depend, in large degree, what the government may do about taxes and about more formal price and wage controls than the persuasion method now practiced.

An affluent society seems unlikely to curb its appetite for goods and services unless brakes are applied. These could be price increases too high to make goods and services attractive. Or they could come in the form of tighter money. This would make borrowing to buy more expensive and harder to accomplish.

Or the federal government might move to make society a little less affluent. This could come in the form of still higher taxes.

Already tax bills have climbed. Social Security is taking more from paychecks. Higher withholding schedules will take more of some checks after May 1.

At the supply end there are questions, too. Industrial production is still climbing. So is the nation's total output of goods and services. The federal government is tapping some of its stockpile of strategic materials to relieve shortages or hold down price increases.

What happens in Viet Nam will play an important role in determining whether demand grows too much faster than supply and thus sets up the need for a curb on an affluent society.

Right now, the administration holds it's still in the question stage. The stock market has been trying to guess the answer. So have many business leaders. Consumers mostly seem to go right along with little visible reaction except a spirit of resignation.

Dramatics Out As Van Dyke's Show Hits '30'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — This is the way the Dick Van Dyke show ends: not with a bang, but a flock of wild tracks.

The many-Emmied series filmed its final show this week; it is quitting not because of bad ratings but because its key personnel want to pursue careers in feature films.

There were no speeches, no fanfares for the closing performance. After five years of work together, the cast spent the last minutes doing wild tracks, pieces of dialogue to be dubbed on film later.

Members Choke Up

"It's better this way," confided a production aide. "If we made any dramatic gestures, there would be all that crying." I agreed that Mary Tyler Moore and Rose Marie seemed close to tears.

"It's the men I'm worried about," said the aide. "I hate to see grown men cry." There was truth in his comment. At the Tahitian-type party following the last show, key members of the troupe, male and female alike, began to choke up at the thought of not doing another show.

Carl Reiner, creator of the show, reported: "I'm starting right away at Columbia, writing, directing and producing 'Enter Laughing.'"

Van Dyke commented: "I'm going to sleep for a month. Then I go to Columbia to start work on 'Divorce, American Style.'"

Morey Amsterdam: "I start tomorrow doing commercials for General Electric light bulbs. I've got a couple of pictures I may do, and I'll probably line up another series."

Rose Marie: "I'm going to Australia to play some dates, then I come back in June and make a pilot about a Meter Maid, one of those lady policemen who check parking meters."

Mary Coming East
Mary Tyler Moore: "I'm talking to Universal about my first picture under contract there. I may be 'Thoroughly Modern Millie' with Julie Andrews. Also, my husband (NBC executive Grant Tinker) has been transferred to New York as program head, so I'll be moving. I really hate to leave."

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here is a penny-saver other mothers might like to know about:

I buy canned soup (chicken noodle, turkey noodle, vegetable beef, etc.), and use my blender to turn it into baby food for my 16-month-old son. I add just a little water after the soup is partly blended.

It adds variety to his meals . . . and he loves it.

Deanna Carlson

Dear Heloise:

While I was goofing off (Mother says that's what I do most of the time!) the other day, I discovered a new bank . . . and it doesn't cost anything! I had finished drinking soda out of a flip-top can, and was counting some change I had in a little box on my desk; so just for fun I started putting the change in the opening on top of the can.

Mother came in while I was doing this, and she thought it was a pretty good idea . . . but she did say that I should have rinsed out the can and let it dry first!

If you need some of the money, it is easy to shake it out, or you can let the can get almost full and open it with a can opener.

I'm going to cover the sides of one (a clean one!) with some adhesive-backed paper to go with the color of my desk.

Bill Jr.

Well, bless you, Billy Boy! An empty beverage can does make a wonderful bank—and it won't break if you drop it. Besides, you can take the money a regular bank would cost and clank it into this free bank to get your savings started.

If you didn't happen to have any scraps of adhesive-backed paper to cover the sides, maybe you could find some leftover wallpaper or paint to decorate it.

If this is an example of your goof-off ideas, send us some more of them!

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

An old tennis racket makes an ideal tie rack for those new clip-on ties. Just fasten the clips through the strings!

The racket may be painted to match the decor of the bedroom or clothes closet.

Mrs. G. P. Gagnet

Dear Heloise:

If you have a pretty lipstick case, or even an old, empty unrefillable case, you can put it to good use.

I use mine to carry toothpicks in. It's handy and keeps them clean.

fact

The peanut, which is grown in South America, India, China, French West Africa and the United States, is used mainly for its edible oil everywhere except in the United States where it is produced mainly for grinding into peanut butter. Half of the harvested crop is used for this purpose. Only 10 per cent of the crop is crushed for oil. In the southern part of the United States the peanut is used extensively as feed for livestock.

GLENN VAN BRAMER Bids for Seat Of N.Y. Senator In New District

The ink had hardly had time to dry on the State Court of Appeals order this week, joining Ulster and Dutchess Counties in a new 38th Senatorial District under a spanking new reapportionment plan, when the Democrats fielded a candidate for the nomination for Senator from the realigned district.

Fast on the heels of the announcement from Albany Tuesday that Ulster and Dutchess would now stand alone as a single Senatorial District, Glenn C. Van Bramer of Poughkeepsie tossed his hat in the ring.

Young, bright and ruggedly handsome Van Bramer has been serving since December, 1964 in the post of legislative assistant to Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick. He joined the congressman's Washington staff on the opening day of the 89th Congress in early 1965. With Resnick, he dealt with all facets of legislative and governmental matters in the Congressional office.

Has Varied Background

Possessed of plenty of personality, Van Bramer has a varied background. He served as editorial assistant and advertising representative of The Millbrook Roundtable, a weekly newspaper, prior to his appointment by Resnick. Earlier he was employed by the Dutchess Bank and Trust Company of Poughkeepsie.

A graduate of Arlington High School he attended Hamilton College. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Van Bramer of 6 Brett Place, Poughkeepsie. His grandfather, Charles Phinney, once served as Kingston Police Chief. He is married to the former Judith Short of Poughkeepsie. They reside with their two children at 5 Alden Road, Poughkeepsie. During his work in Washington, they have been living in the District of Columbia suburb of Hyattsville, Md.

His announcement that he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination to run for the New York State Senate from the new 38th District is well-timed. Under the new alignment of Ulster and Dutchess, incumbent Republican Lloyd A. Newcombe, now representing Ulster, is a resident of Greene and will be unable to run in the new reapportioned District. Dutchess County's incumbent Republican Sen. R. Watson Pomeroy has already announced he will not seek reelection. Van Bramer, by reaching his decision early, has the jump in the race since the Republicans will have to look for a new candidate.

Requires Full Time Effort

In announcing his candidacy, Van Bramer said he had done so after a great deal of thought and discussion with Democratic leaders and friends in the District. He said his decision was based on his belief that the position of Senator requires full-time effort to do a full-time job. He committed himself to full-time representation for the District, which he called "one of the fastest growing in the state."

He promised, if elected, to be a strong voice in Albany and an active and concerned representative willing to intercede with the many state agencies in behalf of every constituent. He offers, he says, active and individualized support in the Capital and in the two counties, and pledges his availability at home. He further promised independent judgement on such crucial issues as education, transportation, conservation and taxation.

Van Bramer has his work cut out for him as he starts on the campaign trail in every township in the District. Should he win, he would become the first Democratic State Senator to represent this area since Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1910.

Schedule Cancer Film Showing at Stone Ridge Hall

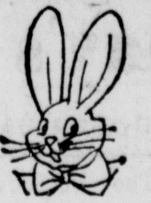

A program of vital interest to the community will be presented by the American Cancer Society at the Stone Ridge Grange Hall on Monday, April 4, at 9 p. m., it was announced today by Ross K. Osterhoudt, lecturer of the local Grange.

A film "The Other City" will be shown, with Dr. Kurken V. Kirk of Kingston, as guest speaker. The film illustrates the tragedy of 75,000 who die of cancer needlessly each year. The danger signals, as well as the human tendency to shrug them off, are spelled out and documented by seven people, each a spokesman for one signal.

The Stone Ridge Grange, sponsors of the program, cordially invite all interested persons in the area to attend this worthwhile program. Refreshments and a social hour will follow.

U.S. Army Studies Forming of New Fast Air Cavalry

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army planners are considering formation of new, swift air cavalry regiments and squadrons which could replace or supplement tank-equipped armored cavalry units.

Cavalry units are used chiefly for reconnaissance and screening missions. For example, three armored cavalry regiments are posted in West Germany along the Iron Curtain. In event of an enemy probe, these regiments likely would be the first to make ground contact.

To Use Copters

Air cavalry regiments, using helicopters for movement, would be considerably faster and would cover more ground in less time than armored cavalry outfits driving tanks and jeeps.

Creation of new air cavalry regiments and squadrons would represent a further extension of the air mobility concept.

The success of the 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division in Viet Nam has encouraged Pentagon officials to consider widening the extent of helicopter-mounted fighting units.

The new budget requests funds to convert one regular Army division, either infantry or airborne, to an air cavalry organization with about 428 helicopters.

May Form Division

Beyond that, there have been suggestions that still another air cavalry division may be formed by next year.

Helicopter production is growing slowly and the demands of the war in Viet Nam are so heavy that the second air cavalry division may not come into being until late this year. Currently, there are 1,600 helicopters in Viet Nam being used to haul troops to battle areas and to provide fire support against Communist guerrillas and other Red troops.

There are currently no air cavalry regiments in the U.S. military structure. There are some air cavalry squadrons and troops organic to divisions and as part of armored cavalry regiments, but only a minor part.

An air cavalry regiment probably would be formed of three squadrons and would total some 3,000 men and possibly about 275 helicopters.

Push Search for Pilot

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)—An intensive ground and air search continued today for an Air Force jet pilot from Plattsburgh AFB N.Y., who has not returned from a camping trip in the rugged Tuolumne River canyon country.

Capt. Robert Whitener, 30, disappeared last weekend after checking out camping gear at Castle Air Force Base near Merced. Whitener is here for training on the B52 Strato-bomber.

He is based at Plattsburgh and his wife and daughter live at Morrisville, N.Y.

Miller Sardella, Tuolumne County sheriff, theorized that Whitener could have plunged into the river or from a cliff while scouting for a camp site.

We the Women

"Have you ever noticed," a man asked, "that on television commercials the girls playing the role of housewife are always nitwits without a bit of glamor who squeal and carry on while girls who do any other kind of commercials are always glamorous?"

Sure, I've noticed — as what housewife hasn't. The television commercial has done for the housewife what the television situation comedy has done for the American husband. Each has created a lame brain.

In the situation comedy the man of the house blunders around in a clumsy and stupid way and is saved from disaster week after week only by his smarter wife or smarter children.

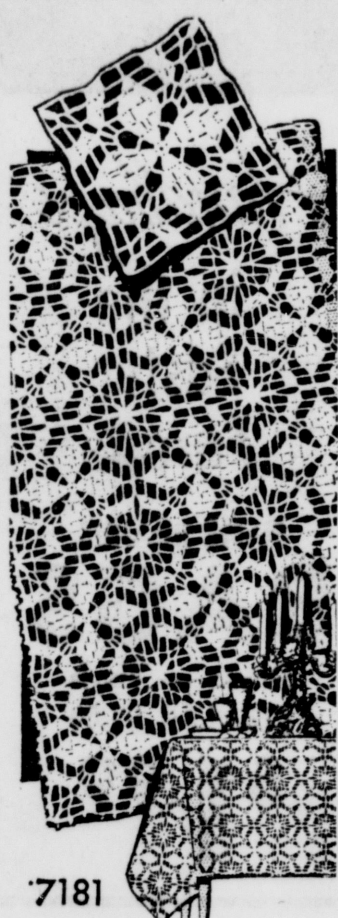

But the television commercials even things up. In those the idiot of the family is the housewife—a comedy character who misses being funny and is just a frumpy, scattered-brained, idiotic bore.

"Why don't housewives object to those commercials?" asked the man. "After all, what the commercials are really saying is that the minute a girl becomes a housewife she becomes a stupid, glamorous chatterbox. Before she's a housewife—in television commercial-land—she is walking, talking glamor. But once she puts her hands in dishwater—she's a real nut."

Well, why don't we object? Why don't we let the sponsors know that we're bored with dim-witted housewives who shriek over boxes of detergents and talk like imbeciles no man would willingly come home to?

Why don't we tell the television sponsors of household products to tell their advertising writers that a wedding ring and a house with floors to be scrubbed and windows to be washed and laundry to be done doesn't automatically turn a glamor girl (like the ones who sell cars and cigars) into a funny paper character known as a housewife?

Saugerties Girl and Syracuse Man Are Wed In Double Ring Ceremony at Glasco Mar. 19

Miss Patricia Ann Sasso, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sasso of Flatbush Road, Saugerties and Travis A. Tonzi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tonzi of Syracuse, exchanged nuptial vows at St. Joseph's Church, Glasco, Saturday, March 19, at 1 p. m.

The Rev. Archibald Damm officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Escorted in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white rayon and silk with chapel length train. Her butterfly veil was attached to a crown of pearls and she carried an arrangement of carnations with an orchid.

Miss Linda Sasso was honor attendant for her sister. She wore an empire chignon gown with white bodice and pink skirt. A pink bow headpiece with chapel veiling completed her ensemble. She carried pink and turquoise carnations.

Cousins of the bride, Gail Mayone of Flatbush Road, Saugerties and Teresa Jane Sasso of Glasco served as bridesmaids. They wore gowns in shades of aqua with white and carried matching carnations.

Best man was Lawrence Tonzi, Syracuse, brother of the bridegroom. Frank Guido of East Kingston and Edmund Burke of Norfolk, Va., were ushers.

A reception for 125 guests was held at the Capri 400 Restaurant, Port Ewen.

For a wedding trip to New York City, the bride chose a Kelly green suit with black accessories and orchid corsage. Upon their return the couple will make their home in Syracuse.

The former Miss Sasso is a 1961 graduate of State University College at Cortland and is an elementary school teacher in the Syracuse City School System. She is a member of Theta Phi sorority.

Mr. Tonzi is a graduate of North Syracuse High School. He attended New York and Syracuse Universities and is a men's clothing buyer for Gary Clothes.

WEARING HAT TO FUNERAL HOME

Q: Shouldn't women wear hats when going to a funeral home to pay their last respects? I have never gone to a funeral home without one but I have noticed that more and more women do. In spite of the fact that many women seldom wear hats in the present day, I do think this is one occasion when a hat should be worn. May I please have your opinion on this?

A: I personally agree with you that some head covering should be worn. But today, so many women go everywhere without hats that it isn't really important. The main thing is that they go and pay their respects.

Tipping the Drivers Of Limousines

Q: Will you please tell me if it is necessary to tip the drivers of the limousines hired for a wedding? I have been told that one is expected to do so. The cost of hiring these cars is considerable and I can't see why one should have to give something extra to the drivers who, I am sure, are well paid for the jobs.

A: I'm sorry to disappoint you, but they should be given a tip. The amount of their salaries is usually based on the fact that the people using the service will give them an additional sum.

Enclosing Reply Cards

Q: I just recently ordered my wedding invitations. Although I understand it is not entirely proper to enclose reply cards, I nevertheless ordered them to make it easier to calculate the number of guests who will attend. My fiancée's relatives and friends live over 500 miles from here and will most likely not be present at the wedding. My question is: even though I know they won't come, do I enclose reply cards in with their invitations?

A: The fact that your fiancée's relatives and friends live far away really doesn't make any difference. If you are sending them invitations at all, the reply cards should be enclosed in the hope that they might be able to attend.

Who pays for what at the wedding? The Emily Post Institute booklet entitled "Wedding Expenses," answers this question in detail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Emily Post Institute, in care of The Freeman.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column. (A Bell-McClure Syndicate Feature)

Vassar Girl Turns Vacation Bootblack To Earn Extra Money

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Some men don't want a girl to shine their shoes — not even a Vassar girl.

It isn't that they're against women doing such work, reports Sally Petruskas, it's because they're antifeminists.

This is one of the discoveries Sally has made in her week of studying "the socio-economic relationships between a man and his shoes."

Sally, 19, is a Vassar sophomore who has created a minor commotion by shining shoes on Hartford's Asylum Street, one of the city's main thoroughfares.

She says she is shining shoes to earn pocket money to spend when she returns to Poughkeepsie, N.Y., after her two-week spring vacation. Hartford is her home town.

Shoe shining isn't the most lucrative job. Sally has earned only about $7 in three days. And there are quite a few hazards. So why should a pretty, brown-haired, blue-eyed, cultured young lady want to take up the profession?

"I wanted to earn money in an unconventional way," I'm an unconventional person," Sally explained. "Besides," she added, "it keeps me up nights laughing."

"For instance, there was the time when I was working especially hard, and I noticed this little old lady watching me," Sally recalled.

"She must have been watching for quite a while, when she came over to me, a tear in her eye, and said, 'You're such a good little girl.'"

One of the many things about Sally which draws attention is her outfit, a blue sweatshirt, faded blue jeans and a green Marine fatigue jacket.

Many of the men who stop, not necessarily to get their shoes shined, ask the inevitable "What's a nice girl like you doing in a place like this?"

Depending upon her mood at the time, Sally has an assortment of answers, which include: "I need the money." Her goal is $50 in two weeks.

"I was married when I was in high school and my husband beats me up if I don't work."

"It's a good way to meet people."

Sally says she got the idea to shine shoes when she stepped off the train which brought her home from school. On the railroad platform was a shoeshine boy.

"I needed the money," recalled Sally, "so I thought: 'Why not?'"

Sally says the main problems have been her mother, a non-sense woman who made her way to Hartford from Lithuania via a displaced persons' camp, and the "gawking old men" who pass the stand several times each day.

She says she might have considered some other job, but there are few employment opportunities for a college girl home for two weeks.

Rates Lady Bird With Best Figure Of First Ladies

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A designer who has made clothes for the last four First Ladies says Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson has the best figure of all and that for her type she is equally as fashionable as the much lauded style peacemaker, Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

The designer is Mollie Parnis, the daughter of an immigrant pushcart peddler whose name became a household word when Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower dressed almost exclusively in Parnis-labeled garments.

Now Mollie is shuttling back and forth to the White House, whipping up Mrs. Johnson's spring wardrobe. She also has designed some for Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Harry S. Truman.

"It's so unfair," protests Mollie, "that the present First Lady's fashion image is dim, compared to her predecessor."

"It can't be that Mrs. Kennedy is always right and everyone else is always wrong," argues Mollie.

"Mrs. Johnson has a marvelous style sense, very prophetic. She chooses very good clothes." Mollie is especially impressed with Mrs. Johnson's marvelous figure, "perfect model's proportions."

Mrs. Kennedy has a tall, big-boned, athletic build, she says, not perfect in her judgment.

Mollie has remained a White House favorite despite changes in administrations because "politics has nothing to do with fashion."

"I never knew any of the First Ladies until they were already in the White House," she says.

They had been buying her clothes long before they had prestigious closets to hang them in, she explains. Finding it impossible to shop when they became First Ladies, they simply summoned the label names in their favorite garments. And very often up came Mollie.

Parnis designs have particular appeal to Washington women, Mollie says, because, "they are not too far out, not too far in. They are contemporary without being knacky, or wacky."

Among others who have designed for Mrs. Johnson are John Moore, a fellow Texan who designed her yellow rose inaugural gown; Norman Norell, and Adele Simpson.

Norman Norell, the dean of American designers, found her to be extremely practical and seemingly "not very interested in fashion."

Miss Simpson, who is currently stitching up some party costumes for the First Lady, says she has a wonderful color sense and is "willing to be a little more daring with fashion than she used to be."

Although Mrs. Johnson does not have an official designer — the role of Oleg Cassini for Mrs. Kennedy — her apparent favorites are the ladies Parnis and Simpson.

She makes a point of foregoing French styles for American-designed clothes.

RAY KORNBREK KNOWS THIS BETTER THAN ANYONE!!

Last year Ray and his family decided to buy a swimming pool. They had long dreamed of having their own pool in their own back yard where they and their friends could spend long, lazy summer hours.

Ray and his wife studied every advertisement, compared all costs, investigated every company and after much consideration decided on a "SKYLARK" pool.

They watched the workmen construct their pool, step-by-step; saw the great skill of the craftsmen, the fine quality of the materials and knew they had made a wise choice. On the day the Kornbreks filled their pool, Ray had reached a decision.

He had decided to quit his job of 18 years and become a SKYLARK representative.

As an owner of a SKYLARK pool, Ray knew that he could honestly tell other families of the great pleasure they, too, could enjoy if they had a SKYLARK pool; that he could sincerely recommend SKYLARK builders for their competence and integrity.

Mrs. Kornbrek was equally as enthusiastic about Ray's decision and has become a valuable assistant to him in his new work.

AN interesting sidelight to all this is that SKYLARK didn't ask Ray to be a representative for them, Ray asked SKYLARK, and of course they welcomed him eagerly; a satisfied client is the best possible salesman.

SKYLARK is proud to announce that Mr. Ray Kornbrek is now your area representative and will be very glad to show you the way to a life-time of family fun. After all, who knows better than the man who also found a life-time career.

Win Scotch Cup

VANCOUVER (AP) — The Ron Northcott rink of Calgary defeated the Chuck Hay rink from Perth, Scotland, 12-5 Thursday night to regain the Scotch Cup, emblematic of the International Curling Championship.

Ray's to Play In Tournament

Ray's Tackle Shop will meet Stewart Air Force Base at 7:15 tonight at the Poughkeepsie YMCA as the Hudson Valley Basketball tournament moves into the quarter-final round.

The local hotshots drew a first round bye and tonight's start will be their first in this year's competition.

Ray's finished second last year, bowing to the Pine Plains Bombardiers in the championship game.

In tonight's second game, the Nite Cap Restaurant of Poughkeepsie meets Covino's Rest.

Semi-finals are slated next Wednesday at the IBM Country Club court and finals will be held on Tuesday, April 5 at the same site.

Playoff Cagers Click on Road

BALTIMORE (AP) — Suddenly, it's the home-court disadvantage in the National Basketball Association.

Forced to play the odd game on enemy courts after finishing third in their divisions, the Cincinnati Royals and St. Louis Hawks have jumped into 1-0 leads in the best-of-five semi-final playoffs.

Cincinnati started the form reversal Wednesday in Boston, upending the perennial champion Celtics 107-103. Then on Thursday night, St. Louis squeezed past the Bullets in Baltimore, 113-111.

Action in the Eastern Division playoffs resumes Saturday in Cincinnati, when Boston tests the new win-on-the-road theory. On Sunday, the series shifts back to Boston and St. Louis plays again in Baltimore.

St. Louis was confronted with an imposing task in whipping the Bullets. The Hawks had lost seven straight in Baltimore's Civic Center, where the Bullets had won 27 of their last 31. In the seasonal series, Baltimore held a 7-3 edge over St. Louis.

Blow 13-Point Lead
But the Hawks, after blowing a 13-point lead, won in the last 52 seconds on a driving basket by jumpin' Joe Caldwell, a one-hand corner shot by Len Wilkens and two free throws by Wilkens.

Caldwell, who averaged 12.7 points during the season, finished with 33 points after hitting his first six shots to spark a 21-11 St. Louis lead. Wilkens scored 27 points and was credited with seven assists.

Don Ohl of Baltimore led all scorers with 38 points.

But St. Louis player-coach Richie Guerin turned in perhaps the most amazing performance. The 33-year-old veteran, who will retire as a player after the playoffs, scored 20 points, had 12 assists and — believe it or not — played the entire game.

"That's the first time I've played 48 minutes in I don't know how many years," Guerin said. "And I wasn't tired at the end."

The scoring explosion in the Summit Classic at the Bowlero this week was easily the biggest night of the season.

The barrage of seven 1,000-games, two 3,000 team triples and ten "600" individual series represented a cataclysmic performance in this season of the scoring drought.

Flotsam and Jetsam

Mrs. William Keyers of 326 Albany avenue won recognition for good sportsmanship last week in the Metropolitan Miami Fishing Tournament when she caught and released 9 ladyfish and one bonefish while fishing with Capt. Hank Di Russo out of Langer's Marina on Miami Beach. The tournament emphasizing conservation runs through April 17. Her catch will be recorded on the front page of her personalized copy of the Year Book of South Florida Fishing.

Lake Mohonk Mountain House has scheduled its June tennis tournament, for all ages, the week of June 20. The September tournament for seniors (men 45, women 40, before the end of the year), will span four days starting Sept. 14. The USLTA has sanctioned both events. Thomas J. Talley, secretary-treasurer of the Lake Mohonk Tennis Club, would like to hear from all those entering the senior ranks for the first time. This is the King's Soccer film — England vs. The Rest of Europe — at Oehler's Mountain Lodge tonight at 9 o'clock. You are invited.

The irony of the 1965-66 bowling season has to be the failure of Dick Howard (671 net) and Bud Lowe (689 gross) to file for the all-events in the KRA tournament. Mind Your Manners

Touring golf pros are often astonished by the casual attitude some amateurs have toward the rules. For example, in the 1964 American Golf Classic an amateur hit his ball 15 yards from the green where a dog picked it up and dropped it on the green. The amateur instead of replacing his ball (called for when a ball is moved by an outside agent) putted out. Asked what he would have done had the dog left the ball under a bush in the opposite direction the amateur allowed that he would have replaced it on the spot where the dog picked it up. His opinion disqualified him.

Familiar Feeling

Adolph Rupp, the Kentucky basketball coach was driving to a game in Atlanta where the Wildcats were to play Georgia Tech. He stopped at a gas station and, while waiting for the attendant to finish his work, spied a strange figure shooting an imaginary basketball at an imaginary basket. "What's that guy doing?" Rupp asked the attendant. "Don't pay him no mind," came the reply. "He used to be our high school basketball coach but now he's slightly off his rocker." "Tell him to keep on shooting," replied Rupp. "If we lose this game to Tech, I'll be back to guard him."

KSC Signs Faccioli, Two Other State Stars

Kingston Sport Club has announced the signing of three State University (New Paltz) soccer stars to bolster its sagging fortunes in the German-American Soccer Association.

The trio includes Joe Faccioli, an All-America collegiate selection; Richie Lotze, All-SUNYAC pick and Brian Schmalz, a defensive standout with the Hawks.

Kurt Schoch, publicity director for the Sports Club, said the locals hope to have the new players in the lineup Sunday, if league clearance is obtained in time.

The Sport Club is scheduled to meet the Lithuanians in Brooklyn in another of five consecutive road contests before launching the 1966 home season at Oehler's Mountain Lodge.

Add Scoring Punch

The newly signed trio will give the Sport Club some badly needed scoring punch. Faccioli is one of the highest rated collegians in the country and should fit easily into the German-American league play.

Sport Club has made several lineup changes since the start of the new season but has failed to dent the winning circle as yet. Manager Alexander is working with several combinations and is confident a strong winning team will emerge, when the team is finally screened for the long summer campaign ahead.

Meanwhile, the club will relax with a soccer film tonight at 9 o'clock at Oehler's. The public is invited.

Adora's Dream, a 7-year-old gelding, returned $6.20, $3.80 and $3.00.

Golden Gloves In Semi-Finals

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer
KANSAS CITY (AP) — Top crowd-pleasing bouts tonight in semifinals of the 39th National Golden Gloves Boxing Championships will be bald-headed Jim Neill of Buffalo, N.Y., vs. Hedgeman Lewis of Detroit and quick Marcus Anderson of Louisville, Ky., vs. shuffling Cosby Fullbright of Los Angeles.

Close to these two in excitement likely will be heavyweight Clay Hodges of Los Angeles vs. big Earl Averette of Cleveland and hard-hitting light heavy John Griffin of Cleveland vs. Earl Howard of Kansas City.

Semifinals and finals will be packed into the last night, starting at 7 p. m., CST. Gloves officials hope for a near-sellout in 10,000-seat Municipal Auditorium, although the first three nights drew 13,000.

Te. Neill-Lewis bout might produce the 147 champ, although the winner may have to contend with James Parks of Cleveland, talented southpaw who was runner-up in 1965 and a former Eastern Olympic semifinalist.

Neill, 23, hits hard but maintains a gay mood throughout each bout. The stringbean left-hander is welter champ of Ireland and a fine boxer. A wig is lifted from his head the moment the bell rings. Lewis was the AAU welter champ in 1965 and gloves 135 champ in 1964.

Freddie 5-1 Pick In Steeplechase

AINTREE, England (AP) — British bookies today made the Scottish-trained Freddie the stand-out favorite to win Saturday's Grand National Steeplechase, regarded as the world's toughest race for thoroughbreds.

Freddie, a 9-year-old that came close to beating the American-owned Jay Trump in last year's grueling four-mile and 856-yard race over 30 towering obstacles, was quoted at 5-1, a sharp drop since the callover a week ago.

Highland Wedding was the second choice at 11-2 and What A Myth third at 8-1. Forest Prince was next at 12-1 and Kapeno and Vultrix at 14-1. Royal Ruse, the American hope owned by Ron Woodward of New York, was a 20-1 long shot.

The Grand National, run for more than 100 years over the Aintree Course, is in danger of oblivion. Mrs. Mirabel Topham, the course owner, wants to sell the Aintree's acres for a housing development. Lord Sef-ton, a previous owners, has brought a legal action to try to preserve both the course and race.

"Strike Three" is an instructional film featuring many of baseball's outstanding pitchers. The cast includes among many others Juan Marichal, Don Drysdale, Whitey Ford and Camillo Pascual.

The meeting is open to all Old Timers Baseball Association members and friends. Refreshments will be served.

Trojan Swimmers Shaky in Opener

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Southern California's bid for a fourth straight NCAA swimming championship got off to a shaky start Thursday night with Indiana and Michigan building a big lead in the first five events.

Indiana took the lead in the team race with 94 points. Next were Michigan 84, Southern Cal 0, Michigan State 41, Stanford 33 and 6 Ohio State 37 among the leaders of 58 schools. Thirteen other events take place before the team champion is crowned Saturday night.

Southern Cal's freestyle star, Roy Saari, seemed below form as he barely caught Bill Farley of Michigan to repeat as 500-yard freestyle champion. Saari's time of 4:50.69 was seven seconds his American and NCAA record.

The 7,060-foot altitude of the Air Force pool may account for the relatively slow time for the Trojan time since no other competitors in the opening night's races threatened NCAA records.

Led by Ken Stitzberger, who repeated as champion, the Indiana Hoosiers picked up 33 points in one-meter diving, in which Southern Cal had no competitors among the 12 finalists.

Indiana logged another fat 16 points as Bill Utley captured the 200-yard individual medley in 1:58.55, compared with Saari's NCAA record of 1:56.7. Saari did not compete this time in the medley.

City Baseball Meeting Slated

The Kingston City Baseball League will hold an organizational meeting Tuesday March 29, at 7:30 p. m. at the Glasco Athletic Club.

The league operated with seven teams in 1965, with Herzog's Construction winning the pennant.

League president Fred J. Davi said the league hopes to operate with the same number of teams this year. All interested teams and players and persons willing to serve in some capacity are invited to the meeting.

Glenerie Club Bridge Results

Two teams tied with winning scores of 59½ per cent in the North-South side of the Glenerie Bridge Club's Fractional point game.

Sharing the lead were: Mrs. Harold Rakov (Kingston) and Dr. Paul Perlman, Woodstock; and Henry Berleth (Woodstock) and Ralph Wesselmann, Shokan.

Dr. John Constock and Roy Wulff of Kingston led the East-West with 57 per cent.

The runnersup: North-South: Dr. John Olivet, I. H. Wheatcroft, Kingston.

East - West: Arthur Schiff, Kingston, and T. E. Overgaard, Sidney, 55½ per cent; Dr. and Mrs. Harry McNamara, Kingston, 54 per cent.

A fractional point game is scheduled tonight at 8 o'clock at the Bridge Studio on Fair Street. All bridge players are welcome.

Lassiter Holds Billiard Lead With 8-1 Mark

NEW YORK (AP) —Luther Lassiter of Elizabeth City, N.C., continued to hold the lead in the World Pocket Billiards Championships Thursday. He defeated Jim Moore of Albuquerque, N.M., 150-38, lifting his record to 8-1.

Lassiter had an unfinished run of 100. However, the day's high run was recorded by Jack Breit of Houston. He had a run of 110 in vanquishing Billy Staton of Alexandria, Va., 150-42.

Cicero Murphy of Brooklyn was in second place with a 7-2 mark at the end of the day's competition. He was followed by Joe Balsis of Minneapolis, Pa., the defending titleholder, and Briet, each at 7-3. Lou Butera of West Pittston, Pa., is fifth with 7-4. He has won six matches in a row.

The Lassiter-Moore and Breit-Staton matches were played Thursday night. In other night action, Onofrio Lauri of Seaford, N.Y., defeated Ed Kelly, Baltimore, 150-117. Los Angeles Rookies Combine In Two-Hitter Over Cincinnati

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Now the Los Angeles Dodgers can start worrying about Don Sutton and Joe Moeller asking for a million dollars.

The young right-handers, seeking spots on the depleted Dodger pitching staff, turned in a collectively brilliant performance Thursday as Los Angeles won only its third game of the spring, whipping Cincinnati 6-0.

Sutton, who will be 21 next week, allowed only one hit through the first five innings, and Moeller, 23 last month, gave up two the rest of the way.

That gave Sutton a spring record of two runs and four hits for 11 1-3 innings while Moeller has not permitted an earned run in 11 innings.

Their performances undoubtedly are encouraging to Manager Walter Alston, who faces defense of the world championship without the nucleus of the championship team — pitchers Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale.

Still Not Signed

The Dodgers are no closer to signing their aces now than they were four weeks ago—when the pair became holdouts.

Koufax and Drysdale, who won 49 games between them last season, want three-year contracts calling for $500,000 each, but the Dodgers want to pay Koufax $100,000 and Drysdale $85,000, both under one-year pacts.

With the two on the sidelines, Sutton seeks to replace one of them after only one year of pro ball. While playing in the California and Texas Leagues last season, Sutton compiled a 23-7 record, while completing 24 of 31 starts.

Moeller is making his third try at gaining a permanent spot on the pitching staff. He was with the Dodgers for part of the 1962 season and for all of the 1964 season, but his total record was 13-18. He spent last year with Spokane of the Pacific Coast League where he was 7-10.

In increasing their record to 3-9, the Dodgers received help from Cincinnati's Deron Johnson, who is playing left field after starring at third base last year. With two out and the bases loaded in the fourth inning, Johnson dropped Nate Oliver's fly ball in short left, allowing all three runners to score.

In another three-hitter, California edged the Chicago Cubs 1-0 on Ed Bailey's run-scoring single in the second inning. Jim McGlothlin, Lou Burdette and Chuck Estrada stopped the Cubs.

A's Nip Tigers Kansas City snapped Detroit's seven-game winning streak 6-5, the winning run coming around on Wayne Causey's two-out, ninth-inning single but the Chicago White Sox extended their winning streak to seven, beating Minnesota 8-6 on Tommy Agee's two-run homer in the ninth.

Boston, on the other hand, suffered its sixth straight setback, dropping an 11-4 decision to Atlanta. Joe Torre hit a two-run homer for the Braves while Hank Aaron and Felipe Alou each had three hits.

Roberto Clemente's eighth-inning homer snapped a tie and sent Pittsburgh to a 7-5 triumph over the New York Mets while Ron Brand's two-run, bases-loaded single in the eighth gave Houston a 6-4 victory over Philadelphia.

St. Louis bombed the New York Yankees 12-4 as Mike Shannon drove in five runs, and Orlando Cepeda's 500-foot blast led a four-homer barrage that powered San Francisco past Cleveland 10-4.

Old Club-Bustin' Bolt Leads Jacksonville Open With 66

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—

If Gay Brewer Jr. can keep his mind off an imminent operation on his 18-month-old daughter, he is in a good spot to continue the hottest streak in pro golf as the $82,000 Greater Jacksonville Open heads into the second round today.

One stroke off the six-under-par 66 pace set Thursday by Tommy Bolt, Brewer figured in a strong position because of the consistency of recent months when he won four tournaments.

But he admitted he is concerned about the little daughter, Kelly, who has been in a cast and is scheduled for an operation on her hip Monday. The trouble is a defect apparently existing since birth, he explained.

Brewer will head home to Dallas as soon as the 72-hole tourney ends Sunday.

He was able to concentrate well enough in his steady first round 34-33-67, with five birdies and only once coming close to a bogey.

For Bolt — whose expert shots over the past 20 years have been overshadowed by his reaction to a bad one by smashing a club against a tree — all was serene through his 34-32-66.

"I'm just beginning to wake up," he quipped. He said a doctor prescribed some pills for a swelling in his hands at the Citrus Open in Orlando last weekend and "they made me so weak I could hardly walk for two days."

Owns Own Course

The 47-year-old Bolt, owner of a par 3 course at Sarasota, Fla., no longer is a regular on the tour.

Neither is Ed Furgol, 49, former National Open champion who shot a 33-34-67 to tie Brewer for second place after 18 holes.

A crowd of 59 — all eager for the $13,500 first prize — were jammed into a bundle at par 72 or better.

Miller Barber, 34, of San Antonio, Tex., and three younger regulars on the tour opened with 68s. Dave Hill, 28, of Evergreen, Colo.; Jack Rule Jr., 27, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Dave Stockton, 24, of San Bernardino, Calif., shared the spot two strokes out of the lead.

Wind bothered the late starters — including Masters champ Jack Nicklaus at 70, U.S. Open champ Gary Player at 72 — without, he said a good putt all day — and PGA champ Dave Marr at 74.

Dan Sikes, the hometown favorite, had 71 along with defending champion Bert Weaver of Broadwater Beach, Miss.

Braves Call On An Accountant

MILWAUKEE (AP) —

Baseball attorneys, with an accountant as their witness, have started presenting evidence to support their claim that it was not financially feasible for the Braves to remain in Milwaukee.

The key witness in the Circuit Court trial of Wisconsin's anti-trust suit against baseball is Ronald A. Wiperman of Milwaukee, a partner in a firm which has audited accounts of the Braves since 1960.

He testified Thursday that the Chicago group which bought the club in 1962 from Louis Perini incurred a net loss of $43,373 in its first year of ownership.

Wiperman is expected to make a detailed explanation of the Braves' financial affairs for 1963, 1964, and 1965.

His cross-examination by the state is likely to concern the contention of special counsel Willard S. Stafford that heavy borrowing forced the Braves to ask the National League in October 1964 for permission to transfer to Atlanta.

The league's approval of the move and rejection of a Milwaukee bid for a replacement club led to the state's charges of conspiracy to boycott the city as a major league site.

Braves Board Chairman William C. Bartholomay has been quoted as saying the team owners lost $3.5 million in the three years they operated the club, 1962-1965.

Clay Is Expected At 212 for Fight

TORONTO (AP) —

Cassius Clay probably will carry the most weight of his 5½-year pro-career Tuesday night when he risks his heavyweight crown against Canadian George Chuvalo.

As the undefeated Louisville Lip and the Canadian champion headed into their final boxing drills, Clay's trainer-manager, Angelo Dundee, said he expected his charge to weigh about 212 pounds.

That would be 1½ pounds more than the fast-moving, fast-punching Clay has ever scaled for a fight. He weighed 210½ when he dethroned Sonny Liston 25 months ago on a seventh-round technical knockout at Miami Beach.

"The weight will be fine for him," Dundee said today. "Cassius is still a growing boy."

Clay supposedly came into town 10 days ago weighing 227. He has complained that the various distractions — getting an opponent and a site for the fight and appealing his draft re-classification — have made it difficult for him to get into shape.

The champ probably will have a few pounds on Chuvalo, the 28-year-old body banger who usually weighs between 206 and 210 for his fights. Manager Irv Ungerman said Chuvalo will weigh about 209 for his big moment.

The strong-jawed Toronto mauler weighed 206½ last Jan. 25 when he was beaten by Eduardo Corleto, the unranked Argentine, in London.

Chuvalo, loser of two of his last three fights, is ranked 10th by the World Boxing Association and ninth by Ring Magazine.

Both fighters expect to spar at least twice within the next three days and then coast until fight time.

By ORLO ROBERTSON

Associated Press Sports Writer

Impressive, gaining stature as Ogden Phipps' leading Kentucky Derby hope, vies with the $100,000-added Gulfstream Park Handicap for the spotlight on Saturday's thoroughbred racing program.

The son of Court Martial was a member of the second string back of Buckpasser at the start of the year. But now that Buckpasser is on the sidelines with an injured hoof, which could prevent him from keeping the May 7 date at Churchill Downs, Impressive has moved to the front of the four-horse contingent trained by Eddie Nely.

Nely also has Bold and Brave and Stupendous and non-Derby nominee Pooker under his wing. But none has proved as consistent as Impressive. The colt goes after his sixth victory in seven starts this year in Saturday's $25,000-added Bay Shore, a seven-furlong dash at Aqueduct.

Impressive's only defeat was by Graustark, the Derby advance book favorite. His victories include a triumph over Buckpasser.

Gives Away Weight

While Impressive is taking on seven or eight rivals under 128 pounds, the richest race of the day will be run at Gulfstream Park. Impressive will give seven pounds to Advocate and as much 17 to the others, including Exhibitionist, 114, and Quinta, 111.

Ten first-flight handicap performers, evenly divided between South American and United States bred representatives, were named for the 1¼ miles of the Gulfstream 'Cap. If all start, it will be worth $114,700, with $74,700 going to the winner.

Heading the field is the three-horse South of the Border entry of Tornado, winner of the recent Donn Handicap, Bonetero and Pia Star. Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Pia Star, front-running winner of the Widener Handicap, is top weight under 120 pounds and the second choice, with the fast-closing Selari third in line, followed by Phillanleub, another South American.

Jenny 5 Seeks Classic Title

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The Jenny 5 of Rochester tonight becomes the first professional team to shoot for the $5,000 classic division title of the 66th American Bowling Congress Tournament.

The classic division is the professional elite of the 66-day ten-pin pageant. Of the 5,208 teams competing in Rochester's War Memorial Auditorium, only 44 are of classic caliber.

John Quinzi, a veteran of 19 ABC tournaments, captains the Jenny's.

In Thursday's action, Van Wie Chevrolet shot a 294 series to move into second place in the regular team division. The Syracuse, N.Y., team had games of 1007, 880 and 1057, but it was not enough to overtake first-place Ange's Roman Room of Batavia, N.Y., which has 3034.

Dick Martino of Batavia turned in the most spectacular performance of the tournament's sixth day when he piled up a nine-game total of 1938 to take first place in regular all-events.

Martino had 693 in the team event, 640 in doubles and 605 in singles.

Jerry Held of Monroe, Mich., who led the all-events for five days with 1911, slid to second place.

The leaders of the singles, doubles and boosters team divisions held firm.

Study Ky Visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House says President Johnson always considers inviting Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky of South Viet Nam to visit the United States, but no such invitation is likely in the near future.

This was learned Thursday after Sen. Ross Bass, D-Tenn., made public a letter from a presidential aide saying the "President has wanted you to know that continuing thought is being given" to his suggestion that Ky be invited here.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers told a newsman there are no plans at this time to invite Ky, and Bass was written simply to reassure him that his suggestion for a meeting "had not been forgotten and would be under continuing review."

This means, an attorney for Lynd said, the State Department probably would refuse to restore his passport and the case will be decided in the courts.

Cubs Construct Knight Helmets, Swords for Fete

Sounds of jousting and sword on shield, reminiscent of the days of King Arthur, echoed throughout the village of West Hurley Wednesday night. Cub Scouts of Pack 66, under tutelage of their fathers and den mothers, constructed swords, shields, breastplates and helmets in honor of the Knights of the Round Table. Forty-eight Cubs, resplendent in simulated armor, and eight den mothers dressed as ladies of the court attended the monthly pack meeting in support of this theme.

A parade of knights opened the festivities after the traditional flag ceremony. William Wakefield, awards chairman, made the following presentations: Jack Fitzsimmons — Bear badge and Lion book; Michael Gray — two year pin; Tim Mench — one year pin; Larry Lamb — Wolf badge and Bear book; Mark Pettie — one year pin; Michael Shultis — one year pin; Gabe Sottile-Lion badge; Holgar Sternberg — Denner bars, Lion badge, and a Gold Arrow point; Robert Terwilliger — assistant Denner bars; and James Wike — two year pin.

In the meets at Camelot there could have been no greater spirit than was exhibited by the Cubs in the game of capture the kerchief. Led by Assistant Cubmaster Richard Wike, the two teams of miniature knights struggled in hand-to-hand combat to gain possession of the contested kerchief.

The closing ceremony was conducted by Cubmaster Frank Mehm.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., March 24—Prime Minister Wilson of England has been staggering from vote to vote in Parliament on the thinnest of margins. Success by Labor in recent by-elections has encouraged him to call for general voting on March 31. Contacts say there is an excellent chance that Mr. Wilson's Labor party will be returned to power by a fairly comfortable edge. He will then not have to fear being thrown out of office every time he asks for support from the House of Commons.

Heart and Core

However, there is grave doubt in financial London that—even with a strong majority—Mr. Wilson will be able to pull England out of the economic swamp into which it has fallen. The whole Free World is chasing after the rainbow of inflation. Among the front runners in Europe is England. We fear that her people have been enjoying a standard of living far beyond their financial means. With smaller resources than some other nations, and heavily dependent on foreign raw materials, the "tight little isle" may find that the piper's bill may be presented early.

Signs of deflation are seen in recent political developments. The Labor government has moved to pull back from over-extended naval bases in the East. The decision to buy military superplanes from the U.S.—rather than to expand Her Majesty's air arm—is the clearest signal of all that John Bull is willing to become more and more a protectorate of Uncle Sam. No appeals to glory can persuade a tightening of belts. This seems to be the heart and core of the drift and political.

On Borrowed Time

Last year the pound was saved from devaluation by massive financial help from the Free World, especially the U. S. Foreign money, speculators—then called the "Gnomes of Zurich"—were beaten back. But the feeling is now growing in responsible circles that the pound will be in deep trouble again during the months ahead. It is openly said that the present $2.80 parity of the pound with the dollar bill is now on borrowed time.

Fact is that Great Britain has been and still is enjoying a boom at home. Both prices and wages have been climbing. Mr. Wilson had to sit hard on labor recently to avoid a crippling labor strike. The government even had to invoke fines against unions and management to dampen inflation trends. Such high good times might be all right—except if it were not for the fact that England must export heavily to pay for needed raw materials. Anything that raises the prices of British goods makes it more difficult for England to sell in foreign markets and brings closer the day of reckoning.

Burden to Fall on U. S.

When the current wave of trouble for the pound started in 1964, the government moved to check imports by placing a 10 per cent tariff on them. Surprisingly, this does not seem to have caused any big slowdown in consumption. Evidently things have been too prosperous. Trade figures for January were distorted with imports running $110 million ahead of exports. Many more months like this and no amount of financial rescue operations could save the pound.

New moves are starting in England to raise "user taxes"—to dampen the consumer boom. At the same time, spokesmen are warning the U. S. that if the British balance of payments does not improve by the end of 1966, England will have to cut back on her foreign aid and defense spending. Since chances of a large payments gain by the British are small, it is becoming apparent that the U. S. may have to bear the burden of defense and aid cuts.

Fading Hope

At the moment, the Labor party is saying very little about the pound. Every effort is directed at keeping inflation from bursting its bounds before the elections. Financial circles in London, however, know the problem will not be cured by wage and price restraints. Greater productive efficiency, not higher tariffs on imports, may be needed to save the pound. The fading of the production can be expanded and exports increased in time to save the pound. But the winners on March 31 will find the conundrum right on their doorstep. And this time it will not be easy to brush it under the rug.

Conservatives Only Party To Show Gain

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The newest and smallest political party in New York State, the Conservative Party, is the only one to show an increase in its ranks this year.

This was contained in an annual party membership report issued Thursday by John P. Lozano.

The report showed a loss in membership for both major parties and the Liberal Party. The 4-year-old Conservative Party lists 30,936 members this year, as compared to 21,990 in 1965.

The Democratic membership for 1966 is 3,755,055, down 195,774 from last year.

In 1965, there were 3,056,078 Republicans registered in the state, as compared to 2,878,615 this year.

Enrollment in the Liberal Party dropped from 87,828 to 85,125.

Aronson Succeeds Paxton as State AP Bureau Chief

NEW YORK (AP) — Appointment of Earl Aronson as Associated Press chief of bureau for New York State was announced today.

Aronson succeeds Norris Paxton, who is retiring after nearly 30 years as head of the Albany bureau.

"The retirement of Norris Paxton ends a notable era in Associated Press operations in New York," General Manager Wes Gallagher said in announcing Aronson's appointment.

I am confident that in Earl Aronson we have a suitable successor to one of our most outstanding and best known executives."

Aronson, 55, is a veteran of nearly 30 years with The Associated Press. For the past nine years he has been state editor in Albany, serving as chief assistant to the man he now succeeds. Paxton had headed the state bureau since December 16, 1936. His was the longest continuous assignment as bureau chief of any person now employed by The Associated Press.

Aronson is a native of Boston, where he joined the AP as an office boy in 1931. He left the news association in 1936 to work for the Springfield, Mass., Union, but returned in 1940 at Portland. He was appointed correspondent in charge of the Portland bureau in 1951 and transferred to Albany in 1957.

Committee Puts Brakes on Two Domestic Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the first nonmilitary money bill of 1966, the House Appropriations Committee put the brakes today on two of the administration's new domestic programs — rent subsidies and the Teachers Corps.

The committee's action on a $2,564,872,569 appropriation bill sent to the House floor for a vote next Tuesday confirmed the general belief on Capitol Hill that many "Great Society" programs may be in for trouble this year when it comes to getting money to finance them.

Here is what the committee did on the two programs: —Rent subsidies. Johnson asked $30 million in contract authority, the committee voted $12 million.

—Teachers Corps. Johnson asked $13.2 million, the committee approved $10 million.

Most of the money is for use during the remaining months of the fiscal year ending June 30 and would supplement about $112.8 billion appropriated last year for general government operating expenses.

The total recommended is $248,679,600 less than the President requested. About $242 million of this reduction was due to a bookkeeping transaction.

The rent program is designed to help persons with low incomes obtain better housing in projects built by nonprofit groups by having the government pay the landlord the difference between 25 per cent of the tenant's salary and the normal rent.

The Teachers Corps program was set up to provide additional teachers for school districts with large numbers of poor families.

Pendell Resigns From Police, to Join Phone Firm

Resignation of Officer Booth Pendell, 23, from the local police force was accepted at a Thursday night meeting of the police board. It became effective March 20.

He resigned to accept employment with the New York Telephone Company. Before joining the police force on April 10, 1965, he had been employed as a truck driver for Terwilliger Brothers Inc., Albany Avenue Extension.

His resignation leaves the department seven men short. Chief Robert F. Murphy noted in his annual report that eight men resigned and one retired in 1965, but since then three have been appointed.

Put Over Sentencing In Big Scot Break-in

Imposition of sentence, on one of two men who were involved in a break-in at the Big Scot store, Route 28 on March 2, 1965, has been postponed for two weeks.

Sentence of George Edward Henderson, 26, of Morey Park Nassau, the man who played cat and mouse with officers for two days among the air ducts and rafters of the big store before being forced by hunger and thirst to give himself up, had been scheduled for today in County court. It had been adjourned to April 8 at 10 a. m.

Henderson and a companion, Raymond Hankle, 23, of 32 Church Street, Nassau, were charged by the grand jury with third degree burglary and unlawful entry. Hankle was given a year in jail and sentence suspended and he was placed on probation.

A burglar alarm was set off at Big Scot when the two men used a hammer and chisels, attempted to break a hole in a rear wall of the store. They entered through the hole and were surprised by deputy sheriffs who went to the store to investigate. Hankle made good his escape and was not arrested for several days. Henderson was unable to escape from the building and hid among the rafters and air ducts. Two days later he was forced by hunger and thirst to come out of hiding and was arrested by waiting officers.

Henderson tripped a burglar alarm as he attempted to leave his hiding place and walk into the hands of waiting officers. Hankle, who pleaded to unlawful entry, was arrested by state police at East Greenbush after Henderson had informed officers as to the identity of his companion.

Postponement of sentence today was caused by absence of his attorney, Charles Saccoman, who was unable to be present due to a broken arm suffered in a fall in a shower.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—High-flyers made big gains again as the overall stock market moved modestly higher early this afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

The list was hesitant at the start following Thursday's mixed session. Before long, however, a number of the high-er-priced, more volatile issues began to climb, some of them adding 6 or 7 points.

Zenith and other makers of television sets as well as companies interested in pay television were stimulated by a favorable comment from the Federal Communications Commission regarding pay television on a nationwide basis.

Airlines advanced as a group. McDonnell Aircraft announced it has developed a warning device that can eliminate midair collisions of airplanes.

Blue chips in various groups were a little higher but their pattern was uneven and most of their changes were small.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .4 at 345.3 with industrials up .5, rails off .1 and utilities up .7.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.68 at 933.29.

Bonquet opened on a delayed block of 150,000 shares, up 1/4 at 2 1/2 and moved up .3 even though a company official stated he was surprised at the recent heavy trading in the stock and that there was nothing sensational about a copper ore body which has been reported.

Prices were generally higher in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mostly unchanged. U.S. Treasury bonds declined sharply.

a small outpost at An Hoa, killing 32 of the 80 defenders. The Allies struck back with three and then six battalions in a pincer operation.

7,000 Rounds of Artillery The Allies poured nearly 7,000 rounds of artillery fire into enemy positions and planes flew countless air strikes.

When Viet Cong resistance stiffened, more troops were flown in by helicopter and others came by coastal Highway 1.

The pincer finally tightened on the enemy when the Marines cut off escape by the Truk Huu River to the south and the Vietnamese troops blocked off Highway 1 on the east.

The pattern was a repetition of the tactics employed in Operation Utah two weeks ago to break up three mixed Viet Cong-North Vietnamese battalions.

The Allied officers gave these statistics on enemy losses: 456 Viet Cong bodies counted, 780 wounded or killed carried away, and 34 weapons, 22 tons of rice and two tons of ammunition captured.

Rain, Snow Falls Over Wide Areas Of Stricken Plain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Light rain and snow fell across wide areas of the Northeast today but skies cleared in most of the storm-stricken Plains and north central states. The wet belt in the Northeast extended from the Great Lakes region and Ohio Valley into the Northern and Middle Atlantic Coast states. Heaviest precipitation was in New York State and New England. Rain mixed with snow fell in many sections but generally amounts were light.

The death-dealing snowstorm which slammed across the Plains and the north central states spread northeastward Thursday and more than a foot of snow fell at Marquette, Mich., making a covering of more than two feet on the ground. More than nine inches fell in sections of western Pennsylvania.

At least 35 deaths were attributed to the blizzard in the Plains and north central region, the second to hit some parts of the storm belt in March. Included were 21 in Nebraska, 7 in Minnesota, 3 in Iowa and 2 each in South Dakota and Wyoming. Temperatures were zero and in the teens in snow-covered Minnesota but there was a slight warming trend in the Dakotas where the mercury reached the 20s.

Forecast Cooler Weather in Area

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Extended forecasts for Upstate New York, prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau, from Saturday through Wednesday:

Cold most of the period, with temperatures generally below normal. Some light snow or flurries expected over the weekend.

Daytime highs will be mainly in the 30s in the north and west and the upper 30s to middle 40s in the southeast. Nighttime lows will be in the teens and 20s during the next two or three nights, then somewhat higher for a night or two.

Total average precipitation water content will be generally under four tenths of an inch.

Jury Report Due

The January grand jury which has been held over for completion of cases, was scheduled to make a final report this afternoon to Supreme Court Justice Louis G. Brühn. It was expected that only sealed indictments would be returned.

ARC Moves Out To Aid Other World Groups

The American Red Cross stretched out its helping hand to the four corners of the world during the past year to assist other Red Cross societies.

This help ranged from technical assistance in specific problem areas to food, medicine, drugs and financial assistance when needed. Grand total of this assistance by and through the American Red Cross was more than $1.6 million. Relief assistance went to disaster sufferers in 16 countries, including help to victims of floods in Korea and Yugoslavia, earthquakes in Chile and Greece, typhoons in Japan and the Philippines, and a measles epidemic in Turkey.

Helps in Civil Strife

Red Cross also continued traditional work in such catastrophes as civil strife. During the conflict in the Dominican Republic, it provided material aid and technical assistance to help the Dominican Red Cross care for the victims.

The American organization's planning for the future found ARC participation at the highest level in the League of Red Cross Societies to spread Red Cross health and welfare knowledge in developing countries. ARC help in the form of the loan of staff members to assist the League and other societies included one worker who assisted in establishing and developing the Naples Red Cross, another who was League delegate to Somali in a famine disaster, participation in a seminar of 14 West African societies planning mutual self-help program and a delegate to Brazil to help Red Cross there establish a Food for Peace program.

Chapters throughout the United States participated in these programs in international help and understanding, with emphasis on "action" projects bringing a practical approach in assisting other Red Cross societies with health and welfare programs. A prime example was the Greater Kansas City (Missouri) Chapter now making 25 payettes per month for shipment to the Jordan Red Cross Society. These are given to graduates of that society's child care course.

C-H Dividend

The Board of Directors of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation, at its monthly meeting held at its South Road Office Poughkeepsie, today declared a dividend of 32 cents per share on its common stock, payable May 2, 1966 to holders of record April 7, 1966.

Study visitors and foreign students from other Red Cross societies and countries were assisted and made to feel a little more at home in a strange country. Every opportunity was given them to observe, study, and participate in ARC programs in U. S.

Through chapters and the international Red Cross and on the basic people-to-people level, ARC staff and volunteers continued steps to build an effective system of international cooperation between people of the world. All Red Cross services are made possible by contributions to the Community Chest and Red Cross fund drives.

THE SAME STORY: When someone tells an old story, we call it "an old chestnut." The expression got started with the English painter Edward Abbey who would be called upon to speak in public, but no matter what story he would begin, he always ended up with one about a farmer and chestnuts.

Fire Damages Kitchen, Roof Areas at Jake's

Kitchen and roof areas at Jake's Grill & Restaurant, 177 Greenkill Avenue, were damaged Thursday night by a fire which started in a partition at the rear of a stove.

A telephone call at 8:21 p. m. was followed by an alarm from Box 1141, Greenkill Avenue and Prospect Street. Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations, the Wicks, Excelsior and Wiltwyck volunteers responded with Chief James M. Brett and Capt. Harry L. Silks in charge.

Pressurized water was used and a section of roof was removed to check fire travel.

The building is owned by Jacob Berinato, who operates the restaurant.

Stakeout Nabs 3 in Clothing Theft at Palz

Alertness of Highland State Police Thursday night resulted in the arrest of three Upstate men in connection with the alleged theft of two suits of clothes from Benson's Men's and Boy's Clothing and Furnishings store in New Palz.

Charged with second degree grand larceny (shoplifting) and held in lieu of bail for hearing at 8 p. m. today were, Robert Lee Brunet, 32, and Joseph Louis Peretta, 28, Albany, and Charles Henry Crawford, 31, Troy.

According to Sergeant Henry S. Rhodes, Trooper Robert Whalen of Highland was staked out in the clothing store and Sergeant Edward Whalen was outside, when the three men entered.

One of the trio drew the attention of the proprietor to another part of the store, while two of the men allegedly picked up two suits of clothes valued at $150 and tried to conceal them.

Trooper Whalen reportedly witnessed the incident and he and Sergeant Whalen made the arrests. BCI Investigator Fred Grunwald assisted in the investigation.

Brunet, Peretta and Crawford are slated for hearing tomorrow before Justice of the Peace Rexford Schneider, Town of New Palz.

Police, With Radar, Cite 20 for Speeding

Local police, who have been working this month with radar, cited 20 drivers Thursday for speeding, and had booked many more on previous days.

Radar is used in various areas of the city and often at main routes into the city. Those stopped Thursday were booked by officers Thomas Coffey and Duncan Greene. They are due to appear in city court on various dates.

Fined $10 each today by City Judge Hubert A. Richter were: St. Clair Dotson, 64, of 74 Broadway; Wayne Dickert, 21 of 17 Crane Street and Joseph Chast, 39, of RD 1, Athens.

Ambrosio O'Higgins served as Viceroy of Peru from 1796 to his death in 1801.

AP Will Hear Vice-President April 25 Talk

NEW YORK (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey will be the speaker at the annual meeting of The Associated Press April 25.

President Paul Miller of The AP said in his announcement the vice president had promised a major address, touching, among other topics, on Viet Nam, where Humphrey recently visited.

Humphrey's swing through Viet Nam was part of a nine-nation Asian tour which he completed Feb. 23. He said then he was satisfied that the "tide of battle has turned" and that the Communists ultimately would be beaten.

The United States will stay in Viet Nam, Humphrey said in reporting on his trip, until "genuinely free elections can be held."

"If the Viet Cong, in those elections, gain honestly a voice in government, so be it," he said. "But prior to elections, this government will not be a party to any settlement which amounts to a preselection victory for Communists which cannot be won at the polls."

"I, for one, doubt that the South Vietnamese people will give that victory to the Communists," the vice president went on. "No Communist government has ever come to power through free election, and I doubt that one ever will."

Humphrey defined the U.S. course in Viet Nam as a difficult one, "neither of withdrawal nor of massive escalation, but of measured use of strength and perseverance in defense both of ally and principle."

The occasion for his speech will be a luncheon in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel bringing together 1,500 U.S. and Canadian newspaper, radio and television executives and their wives.

Past speakers at the luncheons have included Presidents Eisenhower and Johnson.

The Santa Fe Republican, founded in 1847, was the first English language newspaper in New Mexico.
